SUPPORTING RESPONSIBLE TOURISM

As a tour operator working towards our own sustainability goals, we seek to partner with hotels, resorts and in-destination experts that share our passion for responsible tourism – those striving to minimise their carbon footprint and work in ways that benefit local communities and respect the cultures and environments in which they operate. Here we shine a spotlight on some key sustainability initiatives and approaches our partners are doing across the USA and Canada.

MĀLAMA: A JOURNEY OF CARE

Across Hawai'i, the Mālama initiative invites visitors to support community and conservation efforts through volunteer experiences developed with local organisations, cultural practitioners and environmental groups. These activities offer visitors the chance to take part in ongoing community-led stewardship efforts. Activities range from beach clean ups and marine debris removal to native tree planting and cultural preservation projects, each designed to help protect Hawai'i's natural and cultural heritage. By joining a Mālama activity, travellers are invited to learn about local ecosystems and traditions, connecting with the communities who care for them and with the people and places that make Hawai'i what it is.

NATURE-LED, COMMUNITY-MINDED

Perched high above the Pacific in Big Sur, Post Ranch Inn brings luxury and landscape together with a longstanding commitment to responsible hospitality. The resort is closely connected to the local community, employing and training residents across hospitality, wellness and food and land care, while working with nearby farms and producers to celebrate regional flavours. The inn's design and operations are guided by low-impact principles, while partnerships with conservation organisations help efforts to support Big Sur's fragile ecosystems. Through nature-led activities and thoughtful stewardship, Post Ranch Inn invites travellers to experience this remarkable coastline in a way that respects and contributes to its ongoing care.

NURTURING OCEAN ECOSYSTEMS

Stretching along the only living coral barrier reef in the continental United States, the Florida Keys are home to a long-running Artificial Reef Program that participates in marine conservation initiatives across the island chain. Working in partnership with marine scientists, local authorities and conservation groups, the programme designs and deploys carefully planned reef structures that create additional habitat for fish and coral species and help reduce pressure on natural reefs. Visitors can gain a deeper understanding of the region's marine ecology at the REEF Ocean Exploration Center in Key Largo, where interactive exhibits and community-led initiatives highlight the importance of responsible diving and reef stewardship.

HONOURING INDIGENOUS CULTURE & HERITAGE

In the heart of the Huron-Wendat Nation, the Huron Traditional Site offers visitors an opportunity to engage with one of North America's oldest Indigenous cultures through a thoughtfully reconstructed village and guided experiences developed and led by Wendat cultural practitioners. Visitors can walk through longhouses, hear place-based stories and learn about ancestral knowledge, crafts and ways of living that continue to shape Wendat identity today. These experiences support the continuation of cultural traditions by sharing traditional language, craftsmanship and heritage practices with guests. Learn more about the living culture of the Huron-Wendat people and the ongoing efforts to protect and celebrate it.

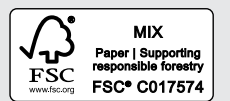

WILDLIFE STEWARDSHIP IN THE GREAT BEAR RAINFOREST

Wildlife conservation and cultural respect shape every aspect of the experience at Knight Inlet Lodge. Set within one of the world's largest temperate rainforests, the lodge works with Indigenous partners, scientists and conservation groups to support efforts to safeguard the region's grizzly bears and the habitats they rely on. This includes contributing to research, monitoring local wildlife and advocating for the long-term protection of salmon streams, which sustain not only grizzly bears but many other species across the ecosystem. Through guided viewing and nature-based interpretation, travellers are introduced to the interconnected landscapes of the Great Bear Rainforest and the ongoing work to care for and protect it.

A MORE SUSTAINABLE BROCHURE

We have taken a number of steps to reduce the carbon footprint of this brochure. We have chosen not to date it or to price our itineraries, giving the brochure a longer shelf life and avoiding any wastage of out-of-date stock. Plus the brochure is printed using vegetable-based inks on paper that has come from well-managed, FSC®-certified forests and other controlled sources.

What's more, we have paid to carbon balance the paper through the World Land Trust, which will use our contribution to support projects protecting threatened tropical forests, helping to reduce deforestation and preserve vital ecosystems.

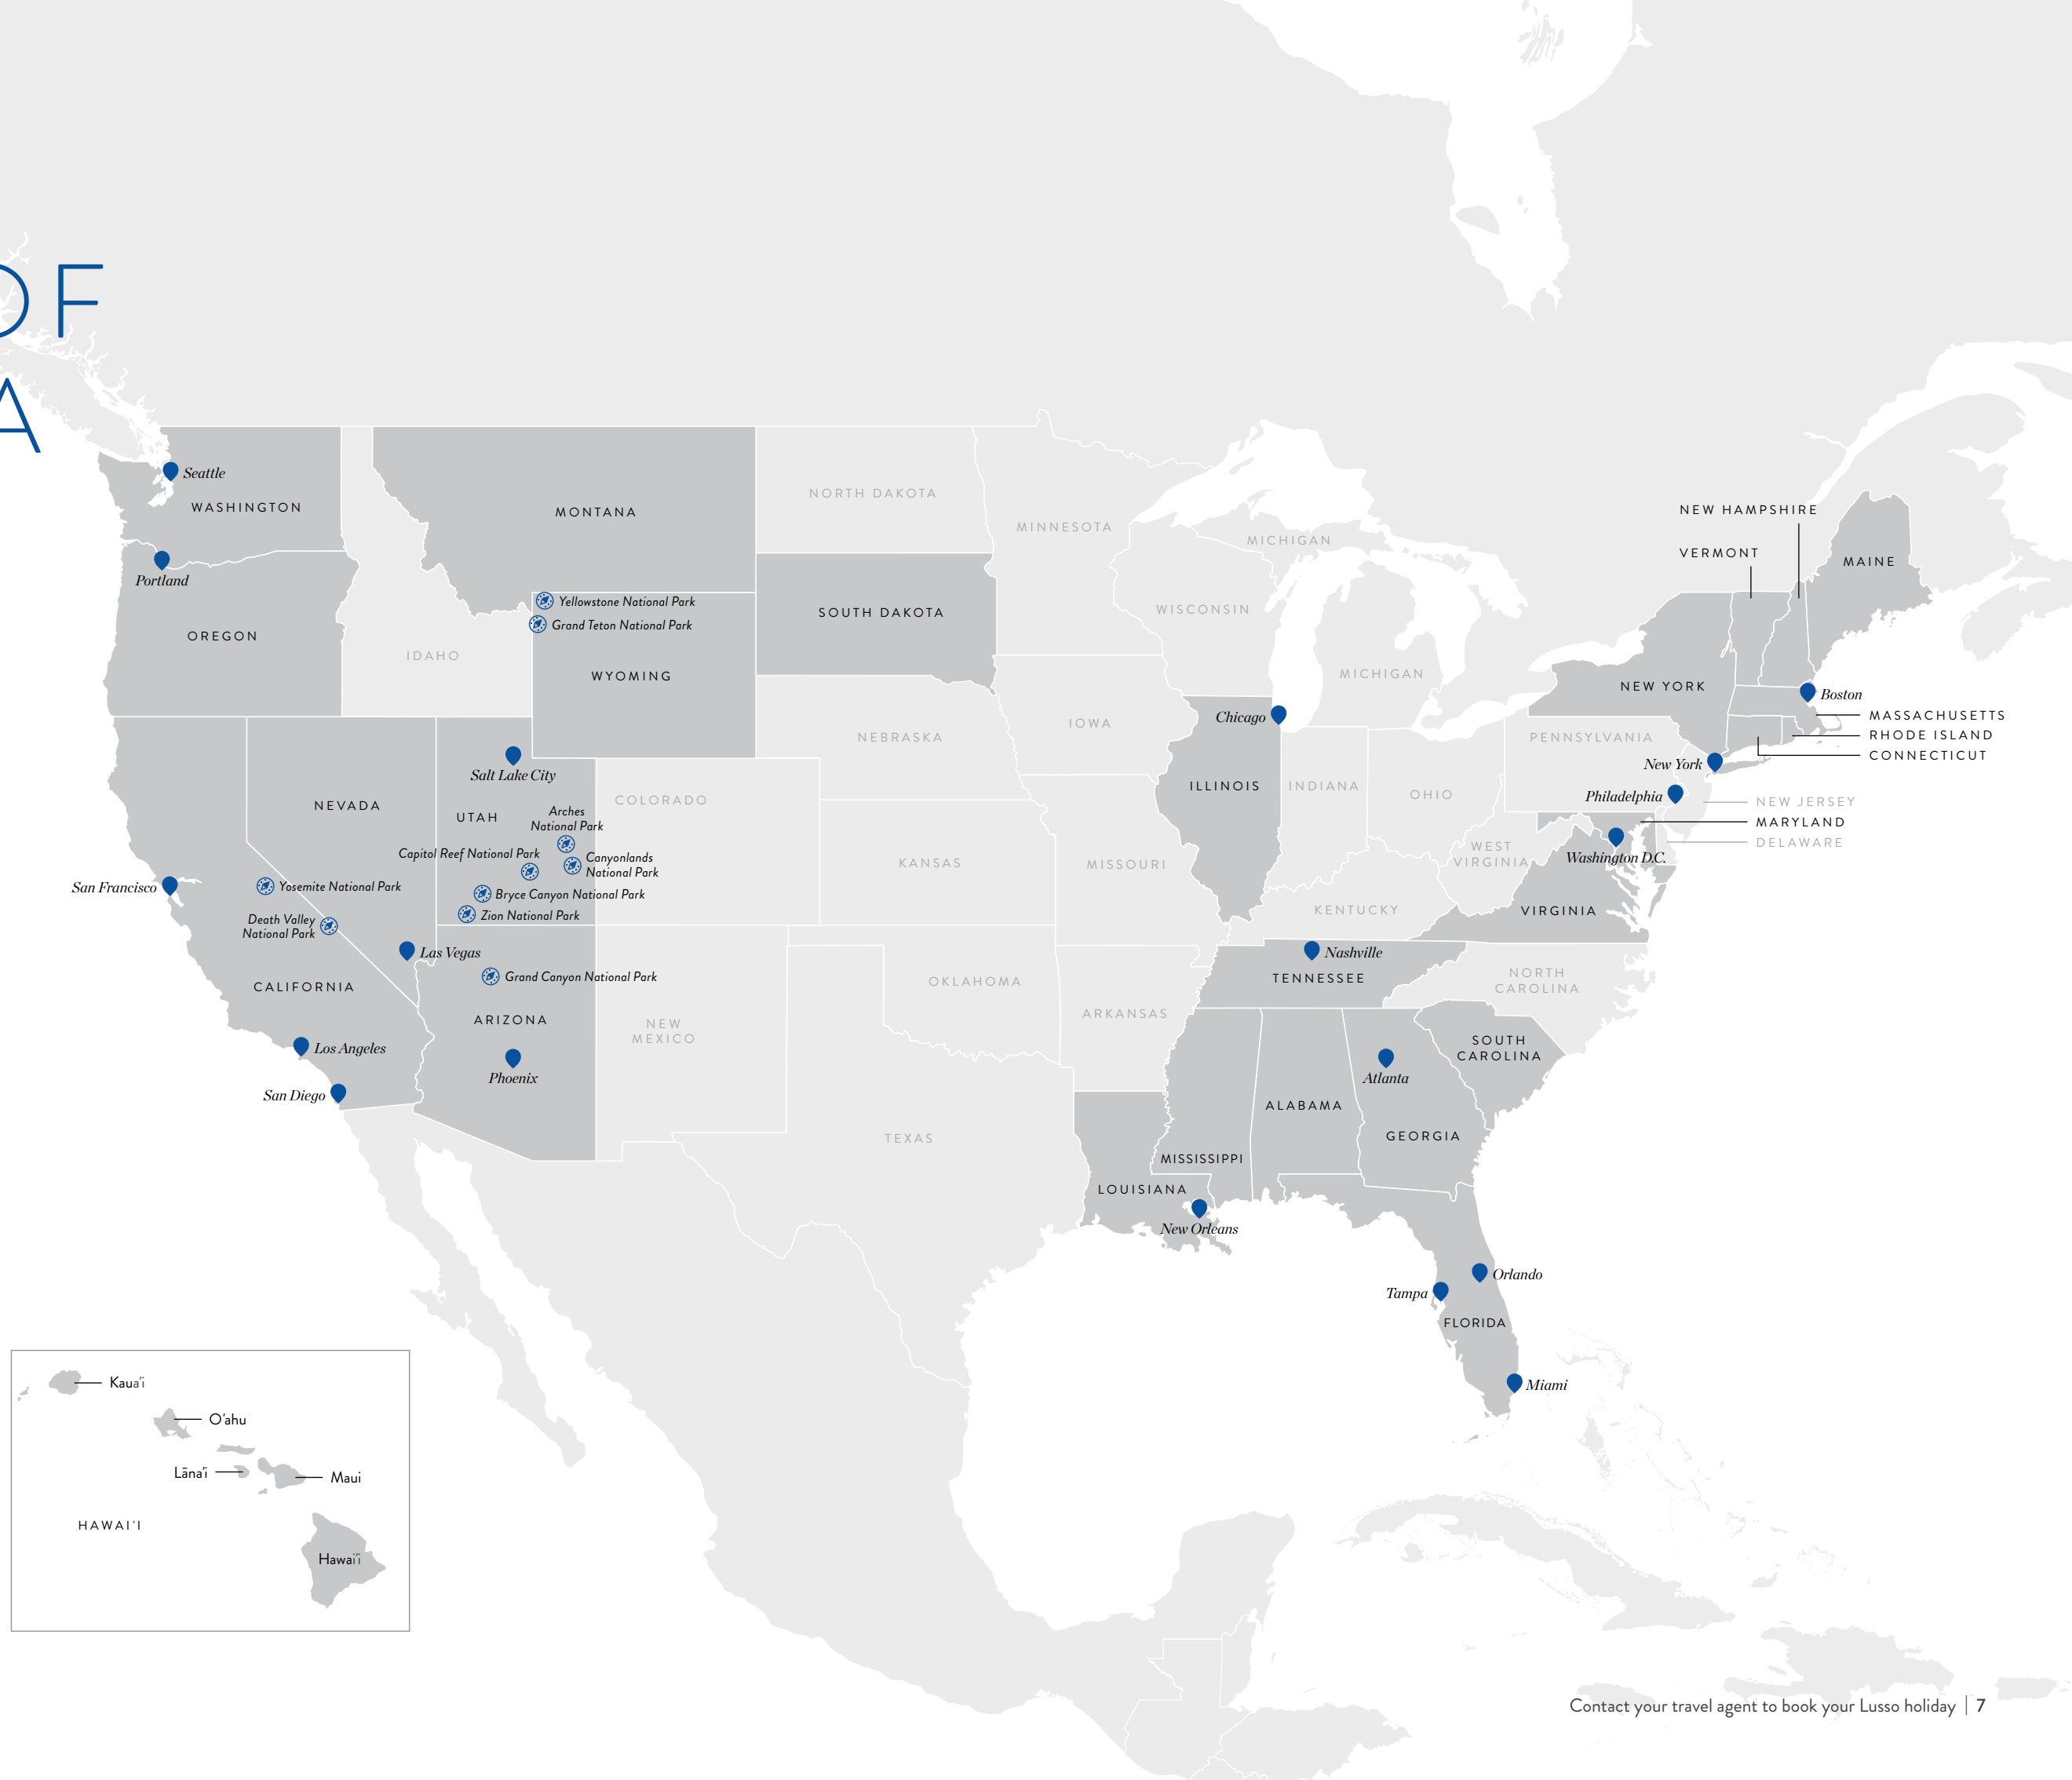

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

So well-known is American culture that we all have an idea of what to expect when we visit. In fact, it's often seeing the familiar with our very own eyes that provides the greatest thrill when travelling in the States: iconic yellow taxis waiting in line in Times Square, cable cars heaving their passengers around San Francisco, paddle boats steaming up the Mississippi River, or jazz musicians playing on the streets of New Orleans.

Whether you're looking for a fun family holiday, a scintillating city break, an outdoor adventure or a romantic escape for two, the United States offers a world of experiences. For here is a continent masquerading as a country, where just about every type of holiday imaginable is possible, from the bright city lights of New York and Las Vegas to the autumn colours of leafy New England and the reefs and rainforests of heavenly Hawaii.

Yet in a country so large, it's often hard to know where to start when planning a holiday. That's where our USA specialists come in. Our travel advisors have journeyed extensively across America and regularly return to the regions and properties within our portfolio, meaning you can be assured of a first-hand, honest and up-to-date opinion. You'll find their personal recommendations for what to see and do in this vast and varied country on pages 8, 38 and 90 of this brochure.

One thing is for sure though, travelling in America is almost always about the journey, which is why we've filled these pages not just with hotels but with suggested itineraries for most of our destinations. These are merely examples of what's possible in the region. They can, of course, be booked as you see them on the page, but they can also be adjusted to suit your own tastes, interests, budget and timeframe. Such is the beauty of tailor-made travel.

DISCOVER THE USA YOUR WAY

INSIDE THE USA WITH

Julie Hammond

Why should I visit the United States?

I can think of at least 50 reasons – the states themselves. Each one is different, with its own identity and personality.

What's your fondest memory from your time in America?

Definitely bottling my own wine in California's Sonoma Valley. I had the chance to do so at Buena Vista Winery and found the process so fascinating I've been recommending it ever since.

What's your favourite US state and why?

More of a collection than a single state, but I adore New England, especially in autumn – or 'fall', as they say there. Boston makes a wonderful base from which to explore the area, though the real fun lies in making your own discoveries along quiet, leafy byways – stopping at cider mills, stocking up on maple syrup, and posing for photos by quaint covered bridges and iconic red barns.

Which places live up to the hype?

It's got to be Las Vegas. Sin City is brash, fun and strangely alluring. It's also a launchpad for visiting the Grand Canyon, best seen from the air on a helicopter tour – a worthwhile indulgence if ever there was one.

What's your favourite city and what must I do while I'm there?

For me it's the City by the Bay, glorious and bohemian San Francisco. Go in autumn or winter for the clearest days (summer fog often obscures the views), hire a bike and cycle across the Golden Gate Bridge.

Where should I go if I'm looking for adventure?

Arizona is America's adventure capital, from hiking to the floor of the Grand Canyon and white-water rafting on the Colorado River to hot-air ballooning in the Sonoran Desert.

Road Trips

It's no surprise to us that many of the holidays we sell in the States are self-drives. Distances between places of interest in America are often huge, and hiring a car – whether it be a luxury SUV or a classic convertible Mustang – gives you the freedom to explore at your own pace, stopping when and where you want. Classic routes like Highway 1 down the coast of California and the Overseas Highway that connects the Florida Keys are among the world's most celebrated road trips. But there's just as much fun to be had exploring the scenic byways of leafy New England, the desert roads of Arizona or the juke joints and honky-tonks that pepper the Deep South. Lusso can arrange car hire to suit your travel needs, with pick-ups and drop-offs in multiple destinations across the United States.

Motorhomes

Hiring a motorhome – or an RV as they're known in the States – is a wonderfully exciting way to tour around America. As with hiring a car, you have the freedom and flexibility to go where you want, when you want, but with a motorhome your choice of where to spend the night is greatly expanded. There are RV campgrounds right across the States, including within most national and state parks. Fancy sleeping on the shores of Lake Michigan, near the rim of the Grand Canyon or by the beach in California? You can with an RV. Our partner, Cruise America, has over 50 years' experience delivering motorhome holidays. Their top-of-the-line motorhomes come in multiple sizes, each custom manufactured to be as safe, comfortable and reliable as possible. All offer sleeping, cooking, shower and toilet facilities and come with a free app to help you find campsites and local points of interest. And with pick-up and drop-off sites in dozens of locations across multiple states, there's almost nowhere you can't go.

Motorcycle Tours

For those who prefer two wheels to four, we offer a wide range of self-guided and fully supported guided motorcycle tours through our partnership with EagleRider, the world's largest motorcycle touring company, from classic journeys from Chicago to Los Angeles along Route 66 to mountain rides through the Rockies down to Yellowstone National Park. We are EagleRider experts and work with them because we think they're the best in the business. They have over 130 locations across six continents, boasting the world's largest fleet of Harley Davidsons, Hondas and BMWs. Their guides are second to none, their support teams are excellent and a wide range of inspiring tours will ignite your passion for the open road, allowing you to experience some of the world's most legendary motorcycle rides.

Attraction Tickets

We can make planning your holiday even easier by securing tickets in advance to many of America's top theme parks and attractions. In Florida alone, we can arrange tickets and multi-day passes to the likes of Walt Disney World Resort, Universal Orlando Resort, LEGOLAND Florida Resort and the Kennedy Space Center. Beyond the Sunshine State, options include Disneyland Resort and Universal Studios Hollywood in California, and the Empire State Building, Edge New York and SUMMIT One Vanderbilt in New York. We can also arrange a host of bucket-list experiences to enhance your holiday, several of which are highlighted on the itinerary pages throughout this brochure, such as helicopter trips to the Grand Canyon, hot-air balloon flights over the deserts of Arizona, and whale watching tours off the coast of New England.

NEW YORK

It's often said that you can tell the difference between a tourist and a local in New York because the tourists are always gazing upwards. And with so many breathtaking new additions to the skyline in recent years, it's easy to see why.

SUMMIT One Vanderbilt, the tallest building in Midtown Manhattan, offers striking views from its glass-enclosed sky decks. Hudson Yards boasts the highest outdoor observation deck in the western hemisphere, while the Empire State Building has an impressive visitor experience, with exhibits, dining and observation decks on the 86th and 102nd floors. Closer to the ground, Little Island at Pier 55 is a striking three-acre park that floats above the Hudson River on tulip-shaped stilts.

Of course, the city's timeless icons remain. Broadway's bright lights, the billboards of Times Square and the many ways to experience Central Park never lose their magic. Shop designer brands at Bloomingdale's and Macy's, visit the moving 9/11 Memorial & Museum, and cruise past the Statue of Liberty. Stroll the High Line, now one of New York's most inspired green spaces, or explore world-class museums like MoMA and the Met. With exceptional hotels and dining, New York dazzles in every season. Come for summer picnics in Central Park or festive winter traditions at Rockefeller Center. But above all, come, for you haven't seen America until you've experienced New York.

Central Park

WHEN TO VISIT

April to May and September to October are the most pleasant times of the year, as the city experiences distinct seasons; summers can be hot and humid while winters are cold with frequent snow. December is popular for Christmas shopping and is festively chilly.

TIMES SQUARE, NEW YORK

The Knickerbocker

Located right by Times Square, The Knickerbocker offers easy access to the best of Broadway, Bryant Park, Rockefeller Center, Radio City Music Hall and the many shops of Midtown. Behind its original 1905 facade lies a chic and contemporary interior, with impressively sound-proofed rooms and suites, decorated in taupe and silver and equipped with comfortable beds, bespoke furnishings and generous rain showers. Celebrity chef Charlie Palmer heads the hotel's culinary programme, from his elegant namesake restaurant to the artisanal coffee shop adjacent to the lobby and the hand-crafted cocktails on offer at St. Cloud, the rooftop bar that's built a well-earned reputation as one of the best places in the city to watch the New Year's Eve ball drop.

MIDTOWN MANHATTAN, NEW YORK

The Ritz-Carlton New York, Central Park

With an enviable location overlooking Central Park and close to the famed shops of Fifth Avenue, this landmark hotel offers luxurious rooms and suites with townhouse-inspired spaces, Central Park views and bespoke furnishings. Dining options range from picnics in the park to the gastro lounge Contour, which offers small plates and cocktails from morning until night.

UPPER EAST SIDE, NEW YORK

The Mark

Set in the exclusive Upper East Side on the corner of 77th Street and Madison Avenue, the super-stylish Mark is just a well-dressed stroll from a convoy of high-end boutiques, including Vera Wang, Missoni and Christian Louboutin. While the glamorous lobby makes a bold statement with its striped marble flooring and abstract artwork, the rooms and suites are more calming and understated, ranging in size from comfortable doubles to a five-bedroom penthouse. The restaurant by acclaimed chef Jean-Georges Vongerichten holds its own against any in the city, while experiences range from cycling to Central Park with a picnic prepared by Jean-Georges himself to private pedicab tours of Manhattan's top shops, museums and galleries.

NEW YORK Essential Experiences - Our Suggestions

SUMMIT One Vanderbilt

Rising 1,401 feet above the streets of New York, SUMMIT One Vanderbilt is one of the tallest buildings in Midtown Manhattan and offers breathtaking views from its transparent skyboxes. The most daring can ride the world's largest glass-floor lifts even further, to the highest panoramic viewing point in Midtown. There are also art installations and cocktails to enjoy.

Sports Events

Sport is a huge part of American culture and New Yorkers are hugely passionate about their hometown teams. Whether it's watching the Yankees play baseball in the Bronx or the Rangers or the Knicks play ice hockey and basketball at Madison Square Garden, we can arrange tickets for some of the greatest games in town.

Architecture Tour

Skyscrapers may have been invented in Chicago but they were perfected in New York. We can arrange architecture tours in various districts of New York, in which local experts guide you through the city's many architectural styles, from stately Federal and exuberant Beaux Arts to brutalist postmodern and contemporary projects from international 'starchitects'.

Broadway Shows

There's no more quintessential a New York experience than catching a show beneath the bright lights of Broadway. Given the popularity of some shows, we recommend pre-booking tickets through us before you travel. We can even arrange for you to join a cast member for a private backstage tour after the performance to see sets, costumes and props close up.

9/11 Memorial Private Tour

The events of 9/11 were perhaps the most pivotal in modern history. We can arrange private guided tours of Ground Zero featuring stops at St Paul's Chapel, the 9/11 Memorial, the FDNY Memorial Wall, the 9/11 Museum, the Oculus and more, led by New Yorkers with personal connections to the tragic events of 11 September 2001.

Hudson Yards

Explore one of New York's hottest new neighbourhoods, Hudson Yards. Highlights include the interdisciplinary arts centre The Shed; Vessel, an Instagram-ready basket of infinite staircases; and Edge, the highest outdoor sky deck in the western hemisphere. The really brave can even scale the outside of the skyscraper, 1,200 feet above the ground.

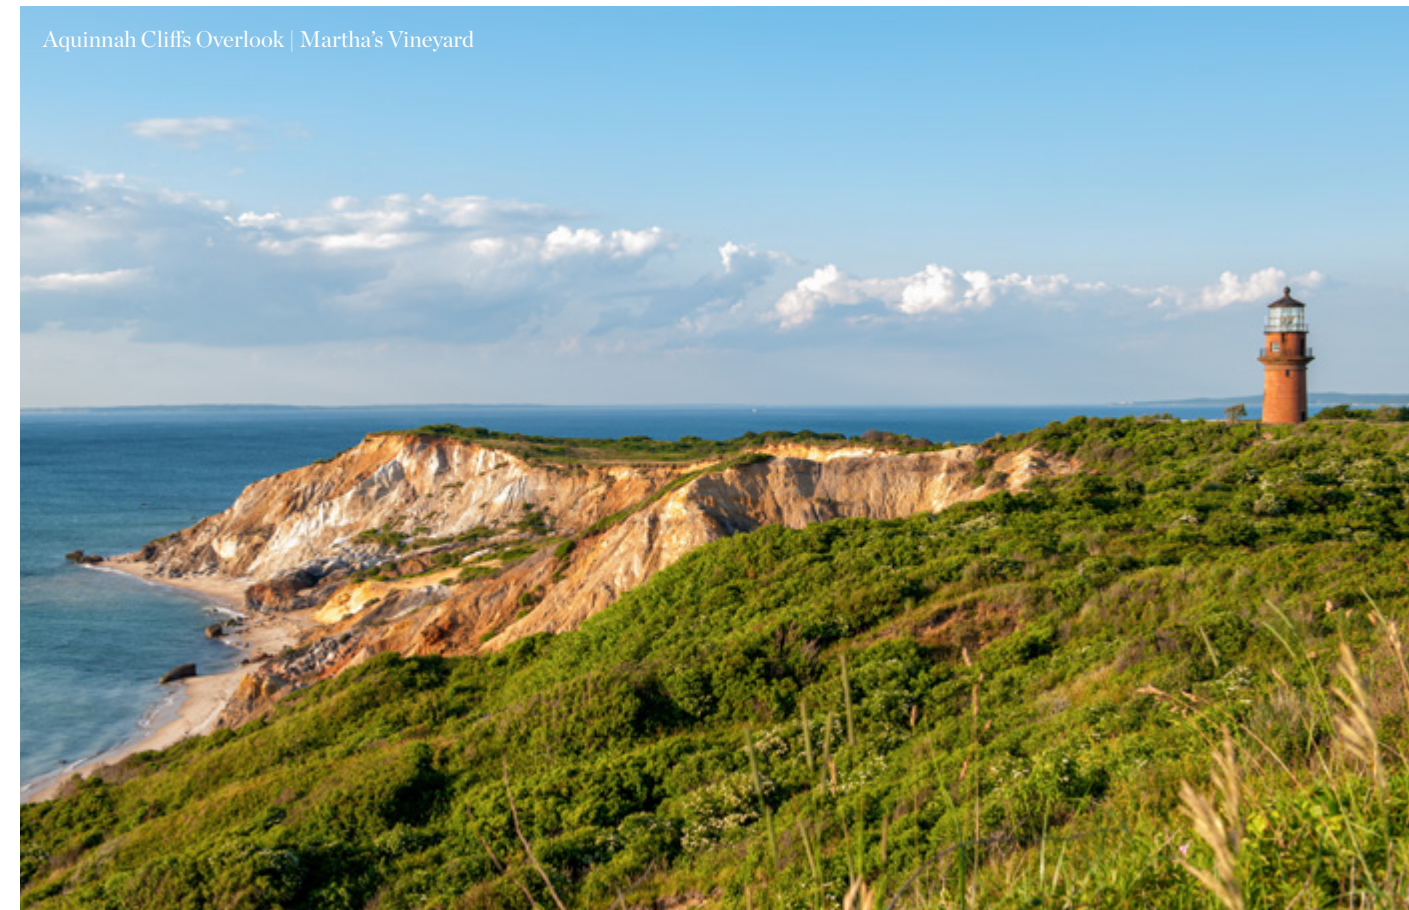

NEW ENGLAND

New England blends timeless charm with natural splendour, from autumn forests blazing with colour to a summer coastline built for adventure. Steeped in history and home to fine cuisine, boutique retreats and picturesque villages, it's a region made to be savoured.

Autumn is a spectacular time to visit, when the leaves on a million trees turn a vibrant tapestry of scarlet, gold, purple and orange. In Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire, the colours peak from mid-September to mid-October, while in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, they last into November. Yet New England is more than a one-season wonder. From Maine's rocky shoreline and Acadia National Park, past the stylish seaside resort of Kennebunkport to the beaches of Cape Cod and upmarket islands of Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket, summer is ripe for fun and exploration.

There is history, too. The Pilgrim Fathers landed in Plymouth in 1620 and the first shots of the Revolution were fired just outside Boston in 1775. The city itself is a year-round delight, offering harbour cruises, world-class museums and the iconic Freedom Trail. Beyond Boston, New England's winding backroads lead to scenic villages with steeple-topped churches, clapboard houses and iconic covered bridges. Then there is the food, regarded as some of the finest in America. The lobster rolls alone are worth the price of a plane ticket.

Aquinnah Cliffs Overlook | Martha's Vineyard

WHEN TO VISIT

Without doubt, the most popular times to travel to New England are the summer season, from mid-June through to August, or for the autumn foliage season, from late September into October and even early November in some areas. The winter months are cold and snowy, while spring months can be unpredictable.

DAY 14: BOSTON

ESSENTIAL EXPERIENCES - OUR SUGGESTIONS

Newport Mansions

In the 19th century, wealthy families like the Astors and Vanderbilts descended on Newport to escape the summer heat. The mansions they built – modestly dubbed 'summer cottages' – are perfect examples of America's Gilded Age. Several are open for both public and private tours, including Marble House, The Elms and the undisputed showstopper, The Breakers.

Whale Watching

The seasonal home to humpback, finback and minke whales, the waters off New England are ranked as one of the world's premier whale watching destinations. Charter your own private yacht for a day or join a sightseeing cruise with a naturalist guide out of Boston, Cape Cod and other coastal destinations for an up-close view of the ocean's gentle giants.

Harvard Tour

Have you ever wondered what it's like to walk the hallowed halls of Harvard University; to get a glimpse of college life at one of the most prestigious institutions in the world? This ultimate tour covers the history and architecture of the Ivy League campus and includes the chance to talk with a Harvard professor and enjoy lunch at the famous Faculty Club.

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

Fairmont Copley Plaza

This stately landmark is the grand dame of Boston hotels. While the exterior is commanding, the interior is spectacular, complete with glittering chandeliers, gilded mirrors and columns of Italian marble. Rooms and suites are modern-classic in style with elegant furnishings, curated artworks and marble bathrooms. For the most discerning guests, Fairmont Gold rooms offer dedicated staff plus a private lounge serving complimentary breakfast and evening hors d'oeuvres. The OAK Long Bar + Kitchen is one of Boston's best restaurants, and though former guests include Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, the star of the show now is undoubtedly the resident canine ambassador who sleeps in the grand lobby.

WOODSTOCK, VERMONT

506 On The River Inn

Owned and run by the same Vermont family since opening in 2014, 506 On The River Inn offers genuine charm and from-the-heart hospitality. The year-round retreat is beautifully located on the banks of the Ottauquechee River, just two miles from the picturesque village of Woodstock and surrounded by six acres of gorgeous Vermont countryside. Many rooms have river views and a private patio or balcony complete with rocking chairs. The five suites are in a separate building and boast full kitchens, living rooms and a covered outdoor terrace. Facilities include an indoor pool, sauna and hot tub, a library and fitness room, a games and entertainment lounge, and a wonderful bar and bistro that's become a popular local dinner spot.

CAPE COD, MASSACHUSETTS

Chatham Bars Inn

Set on a vast sandy beach with arresting views of the Atlantic Ocean, Chatham Bars Inn is one of the oldest and best of Cape Cod's luxury hotels. Some of the most atmospheric rooms occupy the photogenic main house, built in 1914, while classic New England-style cottages are spread along a quarter of a mile of private beach. The newer Spa Suites are upstairs from the spa itself and are more contemporary in style, complete with saunas, steam showers and whirlpool baths. The spa itself is superb, set in a Zen garden with private steam showers, an outdoor pool and hot tub. Restaurants range from the more formal Stars with its panoramic views of Chatham Harbor to the Sacred Cod Tavern and the seasonal Beach House Grill that spills out onto the sand.

MEREDITH, NEW HAMPSHIRE

Church Landing at Mill Falls

Located along the shores of Lake Winnepesaukee in the quaint town of Meredith, Church Landing is the most luxurious of the four properties that comprise the Mill Falls at The Lake resort. Guestrooms at the Adirondack-style inn were completely renovated in 2020 and feature private lakefront balconies, cosy fireplaces and soft, down bedding. The Lakehouse offers gourmet dining within the hotel itself, though guests can also take advantage of the wider resort restaurants, like the beautifully located café, which overlooks the lake and a 40-foot waterfall. Other highlights include two indoor/outdoor pools, a full-service spa and activities ranging from roasting s'mores round the campfire to hiking in summer and skiing in winter.

NEWPORT, RHODE ISLAND

The Vanderbilt

Everything here is a delicious reminder of Newport's heyday 100 years ago, when the town was the essential summer destination to see and be seen. Gilded Age touches are everywhere, from the wood-panelled walls and the books in the library to the art on the walls and the secret drinks cabinet, operated on an honesty basis. The epic Roof Deck is one of the best-kept secrets in Newport, serving oysters and champagne as you watch the sun set over the harbour. For dining after, choose from either award-winning gastro-pub fare at The Dining Room or classic dishes like Rhode Island clam chowder at The Conservatory. There's also rooftop yoga, indoor and outdoor pools and a blissful spa offering an innovative range of treatments and therapies.

KENNEBUNKPORT, MAINE

White Barn Inn

Not for nothing has White Barn Inn been blessed with just about every hospitality and dining award possible. This charming estate on the Kennebunk River has been a draw for couples seeking enchantment and celebrities seeking discretion for over 150 years. Guests can choose between a stand-alone cottage with views of the river and a room or suite in the historic main house, many with welcome touches like double-sided fireplaces, vases of fresh flowers and spa-like bathrooms with jet-tubs for two. The tempting outdoor pool is surrounded by greenery and the spa is one of the best in the region, but even these are trumped by the headline-grabbing restaurant, where indulgent four-course set menus are triumphant celebrations of the finest Maine produce.

“Think of Miami and you’ll probably picture South Beach – a cacophonous swirl of neon lights, Art Deco architecture, top-end boutiques and buzzing bars and restaurants.”

FLORIDA

From world-famous theme parks to sun-drenched beaches, Florida is the Sunshine State. Experience magic at Walt Disney World Resort, relax on the Gulf Coast's beaches, explore Miami's vibrant nightlife or take a road trip through the stunning Florida Keys.

Nowhere does theme parks like Orlando. Walt Disney World Resort boasts Magic Kingdom Park, EPCOT, Disney's Hollywood Studios and Disney's Animal Kingdom, plus two water parks. Universal Orlando Resort is home to The Wizarding World of Harry Potter, Marvel Super Hero Island, Jurassic Park, Epic Universe, Volcano Bay water park and more. There's also LEGOLAND Florida Resort, featuring over 50 rides and the world's first Peppa Pig theme park.

Beyond the parks, Florida is all about sun and sea. With two coastlines and around 1,200 miles of beaches, it's a paradise for beach lovers. We especially love the quiet, white-sand beaches of the Gulf Coast – places like St. Pete Beach near Tampa, Sarasota and Naples. Things are livelier on the east coast, where Miami's South Beach dazzles with Art Deco charm, a turquoise Atlantic shoreline and a vibrant Latin-infused dining scene. Starting virtually in Miami's backyard are the Florida Everglades, America's greatest wetland, while unfurling to the southwest are the Florida Keys, a tropical island chain linked by an ocean-skimming highway. From diving in Key Largo to fishing in Islamorada and the fiery sunsets in Key West, this is island life at its absolute best.

Miami Beach

WHEN TO VISIT

With warm temperatures and sunshine throughout the year, Florida is a wonderful year-round destination. Winters are mild and sunny while summers are warm and humid with short heavy showers.

GEORGIA & SOUTH CAROLINA

Steeped in history and Southern grace, Georgia and South Carolina blend cobblestone streets, grand mansions and inviting beaches. Wander through Savannah and Charleston, relax on Hilton Head Island and enjoy Atlanta's vibrant cultural scene.

History runs deep in Georgia and South Carolina. Legend has it that Civil War general W.T. Sherman spared Savannah, Georgia for its beauty, a claim easily believed when strolling through its rich Historic District, home to the best Regency-style house in America, the Owens-Thomas House. Savannah's squares dazzle in spring as azaleas, dogwoods and magnolias bloom. Even in the August heat, its charm is relentless, with lush greenery draping cast-iron balconies and restaurants serving classic Lowcountry fare such as shrimp and grits, fried green tomatoes and roasted oysters.

Across the border, Charleston enchants with cobblestone streets, horse-drawn carriages and colourful historic homes. With around 70% of its pre-revolutionary buildings intact, it's America's best-preserved colonial city. Nearby, grand antebellum mansions and Fort Sumter's Civil War history add to its appeal. Between these cities, pristine beaches and island escapes beckon. Tybee Island boasts Georgia's tallest lighthouse, Hilton Head Island and Kiawah Island offer luxury resorts, and Folly Beach teems with oceanfront attractions. Inland, Atlanta has a lot to offer too, from the World of Coca-Cola to a string of sites honouring Martin Luther King Jr.

Historic Georgia & South Carolina

DURATION

11 nights / 12 days

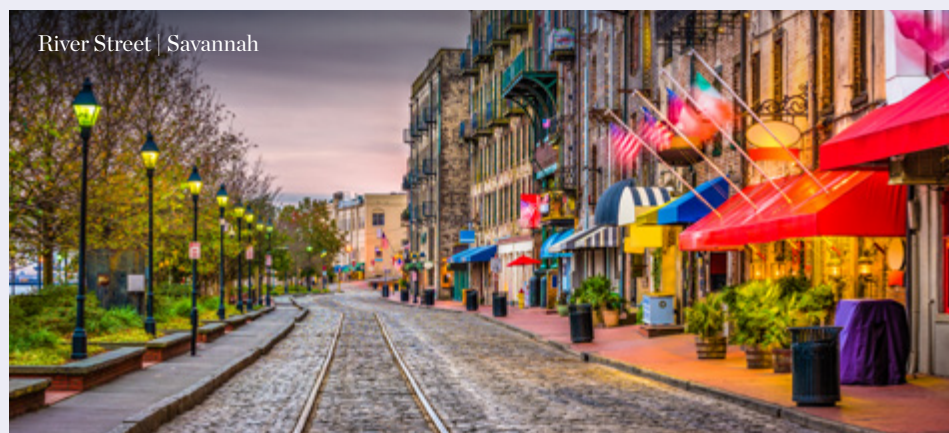

SUMMARY

- 3 nights Savannah
- 2 nights Bluffton
- 3 nights Hilton Head Island
- 3 nights Charleston

From avenues of oak trees and antebellum mansions to pristine beaches and subtropical sea islands, this lesser-visited region of eastern USA offers history, charm and spectacular scenery in generous, equal measures.

DAYS 1-3: SAVANNAH

Collect your hire car upon arrival at Savannah Airport and make your way to The Westin Savannah Harbor Golf Resort & Spa, set on the banks of the Savannah River, where you'll enjoy a three-night stay. Shaded by old oak trees draped in Spanish moss, perfumed by magnolias and filled with historic buildings, public squares and pretty gardens, few American cities are more arresting than Savannah. Many of its attractions are in the highly walkable Historic District, including the Owens-Thomas House, one of the best examples of Regency architecture in America, and the tall brick warehouses of the waterfront, many of which have been tastefully transformed into seafood restaurants and riverfront bars. Guided walking tours come highly recommended, as does a visit to old Fort Jackson, which has stood in Savannah's skyline for nearly two centuries.

River Street | Savannah

DAYS 4-5: BLUFFTON

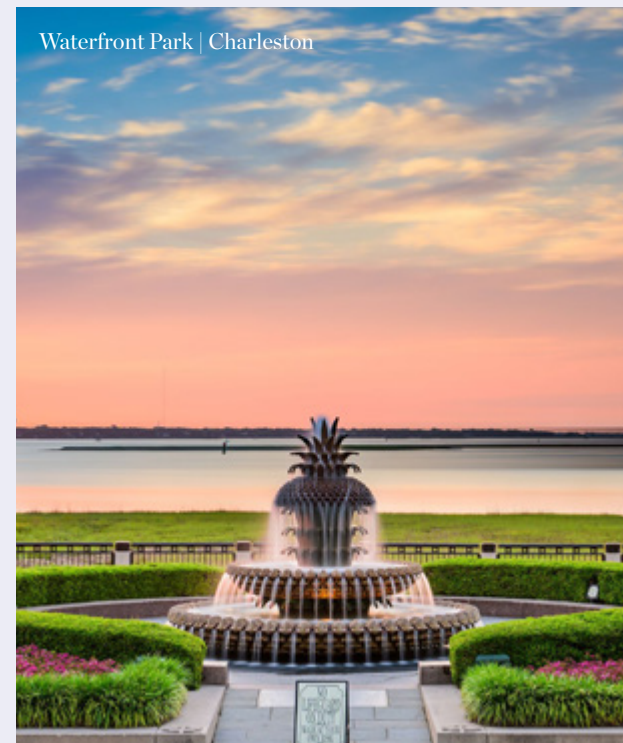

Head north across the border into South Carolina and enjoy the scenic drive up to Montage Palmetto Bluff, a former hunting lodge on the May River set in 20,000 acres of protected maritime forest. It's the ultimate Lowcountry retreat and your base for the next two nights, allowing ample opportunity to explore its lagoons and secret beaches, to relax with a massage, or to try your hand at anything from kayaking and golfing to clay pigeon shooting.

DAYS 6-8: HILTON HEAD ISLAND

Continue to the coast and check in for three nights at The Westin Hilton Head Island Resort & Spa. One of the most popular resort areas on the eastern seaboard, Hilton Head Island is a seaside playground with over 20 championship golf courses, some 200 tennis courts, numerous spas, quaint museums, historic buildings, shops and art galleries. A wide range of bike and nature trails criss-cross its sea marshes, lagoons, forests and sandy beaches, all of which can be explored in the island's warm, subtropical climate.

DAYS 9-12: CHARLESTON

Enjoy the scenic drive up the honeycombed coastline of South Carolina – past peninsulas, channels and subtropical sea islands – to the colonial city of Charleston and check in for three nights at The Charleston Place. Oozing with charm and dripping with history, Charleston's famed Historic District contains one of the nation's largest collections of antebellum architecture, and a fair share of distinctive Victorian buildings as well. Walking tours are a wonderful way to get to know the city. Almost all visit Fort Sumter, where the Civil War started in 1861, and Rainbow Row, a terrace of bright pastel houses dating back to the 1740s. But they also dip down back alleys and explore cobbled streets, revealing hidden gardens and courtyards, graveyards, churches and antebellum mansions. Charleston also boasts a lively entertainment scene with a great choice of music venues, bars and excellent restaurants, while just beyond the city are some magnificent plantations that are well worth a visit. Return your hire car at the airport on Day 12 in time to catch your flight home.

Rooms and suites are more modern, offering luxury bed linens, capacious oval bathtubs and large walk-in showers. Two roof terraces, one quieter and on the third floor, the other more sociable and on the ninth, look out across downtown, the latter featuring a stunning heated pool with luxurious private cabanas. Rooms, however, are not in the 19th-century main building but in an additional building next door. As a result, they're very spacious, boasting luxury bed linens, marble bathrooms and in many cases views of either Forsyth Park, Savannah's Historic District or the hotel's pool and courtyard. The restaurant, Saint Bibiana, offers Italian-inspired fine dining, poolside Bar Bibi serves fresh antipasti and other light bites, while cocktails can be savoured in the sophisticated Green Room. There's also a tranquil spa, a gorgeous courtyard pool, an on-site cooking school, a stylish boutique and the Camp Bardo kids' club.

INSIDE THE USA WITH

Natalie Bradburn-Lewis

What's your favourite US state and why?

I adore Florida as it truly has something for everyone. Once you've tired yourself out in the theme parks of Orlando, Florida's beaches offer year-round relaxation. I especially love the quiet, white-sand beaches of the Gulf Coast – places like St. Pete Beach near Tampa, Sarasota and Naples.

Do you have a favourite American hotel?

There's a special place in my heart for the Four Seasons Resort Hualalai on the Big Island in Hawai'i. I saw probably the best sunset of my life there while sipping cocktails just steps from the ocean.

Where should I go to get off the tourist trail?

That's easy – Kaua'i in Hawai'i. Home to just 5% of Hawai'i's population, it looks exactly how you imagine a tropical island to be, probably because it's been the backdrop to films like Jurassic Park, Kong: Skull Island and Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides. Pack a picnic, have a boat drop you off on a deserted beach and play Robinson Crusoe for a day. Bliss!

Where is best for a beach holiday?

For somewhere a bit different, the South Carolina coastline is a beach-lover's dream, with fabulous spots like Folly Beach and Kiawah all easily accessible from Charleston, not to mention Hilton Head Island, with its 12 miles of gorgeous, rugged beaches.

What's the best way to sample American culture?

Philadelphia is packed full of art, culture and American history. The Declaration of Independence was signed here in 1776 in what's now Independence Hall, across the street from another of America's most famous symbols, Liberty Bell. Festivals and jazz concerts are held regularly at Penn's Landing, and spread around the city are over 3,000 murals, in effect turning Philly into the world's largest outdoor art gallery. Plus, of course, you've got duty-free shopping, the legendary Rocky steps, and the famous Philly cheesesteaks – surely the best steak-and-cheese rolls on the planet?

THE DEEP SOUTH

From the jazz-filled streets of New Orleans to Elvis's Graceland and the story of civil rights, a journey through America's Deep South blends rich history, iconic sounds and soulful charm with a depth of culture that's often as moving as it is memorable.

New Orleans is a city like no other – a heady blend of French, Spanish, Creole and Southern styles. Mardi Gras, of course, boasts parades and pageantry but visit any time and you'll be struck by the narrow, cobbled streets of the lively French Quarter, the sounds of jazz being played on street corners and the paddle steamers plying the Mississippi River. Beyond the 'Big Easy', Louisiana's role in civil rights history is clear to see, especially when following the Civil Rights Trail through the likes of Baton Rouge.

In Mississippi, elegant Natchez is famed for its antebellum homes, while music lovers can follow in Elvis's footsteps from his birthplace in Tupelo to his Graceland mansion in Memphis, Tennessee, a city also famed for the iconic Sun Studio and neon-lit Beale Street. For a different kind of tune, continue to Nashville, home of country music and the Grand Ole Opry. Or make for Alabama to visit civil rights landmarks in Montgomery and Birmingham, the FAME recording studio and Huntsville's U.S. Space & Rocket Center.

WHEN TO VISIT

The Deep South generally has sunny weather throughout the year with the highest rainfall and hottest temperatures occurring during summer months. Spring and autumn seasons are pleasantly warm during the day and cooler at night.

DURATION

12 nights / 13 days

SUMMARY

- 3 nights Nashville
- 1 night Tupelo
- 3 nights Memphis
- 2 nights Natchez
- 3 nights New Orleans

Explore the musical and historical landscapes of America's Deep South on this 13-day self-drive itinerary. From the country music capital of Nashville through Elvis's birthplace, Tupelo, and the blues towns of Memphis and Natchez to the Big Easy itself, vibrant New Orleans, the stops on this tour can't help but sing the story of America.

DAYS 1-3: NASHVILLE

After arriving in Nashville, collect your hire car at the airport and drive to the Thompson Nashville hotel for a three-night stay. Located in the trendy Gulch neighbourhood, this boutique hotel offers easy access to restaurants, bars and famous Station Inn, Nashville's foremost home of bluegrass since 1974. Spend the next two days exploring all that Music City has to offer. Enjoy Lower Broadway, where honky tonks play live music seven days a week. Take a behind-the-scenes tour of the Grand Ole Opry. Or visit the Johnny Cash Museum and Country Music Hall of Fame.

DAY 4: TUPELO

Drive from Nashville to Tupelo and check in for a night at Hotel Tupelo. Tupelo has become something of a pilgrimage site for those who kneel before the King, as it was here, in a humble two-room structure, that Elvis Presley was born in 1935. The house, now a museum, is well worth a visit, with plenty of photographs, family heirlooms and Elvis-worn apparel.

Beale Street | Memphis

DAYS 5-7: MEMPHIS

Next stop is Memphis, the birthplace of rock 'n' roll and the home of the blues. Check in for three nights at The Peabody Memphis, then set out to explore the city. We challenge you not to dance your way around the Rock 'n' Soul Museum, which tells the story of the musical pioneers who overcame racial and socio-economic obstacles to create music that changed the world forever. Be sure also to visit Graceland, the King's beloved mansion, the world-famous Sun Studio and lively Beale Street, the heart of the city's historic district and home to many of its best live music venues.

Grand Ole Opry | Nashville

DAYS 8-9: NATCHEZ

From Memphis, drop back into Mississippi and make your way to Natchez, the oldest settlement on the Mississippi River. Your base for the next two nights will be Monmouth Historic Inn & Gardens, an antebellum mansion set in 26 acres of manicured gardens. From here we recommend visiting some of the plantation homes around Natchez, which grew more and more extravagant in the 18th and 19th centuries as wealthy planters aimed to outdo each other.

DAYS 10-13: NEW ORLEANS

End your dive into the Deep South in the city of New Orleans with a three-night stay at Hotel Monteleone in the heart of the historic French Quarter. Take a riverboat ride on a traditional paddle steamer, soak up the nightlife of bustling Bourbon Street, dine on Cajun and Creole cuisine in any number of great restaurants, or simply follow your ears to one of the city's many juke joints playing New Orleans jazz at all hours of the day. Return your hire car at the airport on Day 13 in time to catch your flight home.

Bourbon Street | New Orleans

ESSENTIAL EXPERIENCES - OUR SUGGESTIONS

Graceland VIP Experience

Enjoy a VIP tour of Graceland, Elvis's Memphis mansion. See the house how it was in 1977, the year Elvis died. Step aboard the King's private planes to see how he travelled in luxury. Walk among his collection of classic cars. And look back at his career through an amazing collection of gold and platinum albums, flashy stagewear and film memorabilia.

New Orleans Music Tour

Jazz as we know it was born in New Orleans in the late-19th century and is the soundtrack to any visit to the city. This noteworthy tour, guided by a local music expert, is a toe-tapping trip through the Big Easy's most musical neighbourhoods, stopping along the way at popular bars and clubs, or to listen on street corners to brass bands and buskers.

Plantation Tour

The plantations of the Deep South offer a poignant insight into the lives of the wealthy estate owners, their families and the enslaved forced to work there during the 18th and 19th centuries. This well-balanced tour out of New Orleans visits two of the most important plantations in the region, Oak Alley Plantation and Houmas House Plantation and Gardens.

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA
Hotel Monteleone

An icon on the New Orleans hotel scene, the Monteleone first opened its doors in 1886 and has been treating guests to timeless luxury ever since. Situated in the heart of the French Quarter, this historic family-owned property commands a prime location on Royal Street, just a block away from Bourbon Street and a short walk from Jackson Square and the French Market. The decadent lobby sets the tone for your stay here and leads to a selection of elegantly appointed rooms, plus suites embellished with period furniture. Take in the views from the rooftop pool, unwind in Spa Aria, dine to live jazz at restaurant Criollo, or sip cocktails at Carousel, the hotel's famous revolving bar.

MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE
The Peabody Memphis

Located in the heart of downtown Memphis, just a five-minute walk from Beale Street, The Peabody is a Memphis institution and has been welcoming guests since 1869. Everyone who's anyone has stayed here, from A-list celebrities to British royalty. Beyond the impressive lobby with its central marble fountain, you'll find rooms and suites decorated with rich textures and specially commissioned wall art, both formal French and casual Italian dining options, a heated indoor pool and the wonderful Feathers Spa, which offers an impressive range of rejuvenating treatments. Especially alluring is the hotel's rooftop, which as well as boasting stunning skyline views, hosts unmissable rooftop parties on Thursday nights throughout the summer.

NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA
Royal Sonesta New Orleans

With its Art Deco styling, striking abstract art and grand floral arrangements, this much-loved hotel brings a touch of class to the carnival of Bourbon Street. Rooms and suites are light and spacious, with options to look onto the secluded pool or tropical courtyard, or to gaze down at Bourbon Street from your wrought-iron balcony. Restaurant R'evolution is one of the city's most innovative fine-dining establishments. A more casual affair but well worth ducking into is the Desire Oyster Bar serving seafood and Creole classics, while the drinks and live music of Le Booze and The Jazz Playhouse provide nightly entertainment. A heated outdoor pool, poolside bar, coffee shop and 24-hour fitness centre round out the facilities.

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE
Thompson Nashville

With 12 floors and 224 rooms, the size of Thompson Nashville may stretch the definition of 'boutique', but it certainly fits the bill in terms of artistry and attention to detail, from the local artwork in the lobby to the dark wood floors, colourful woven rugs, claw-foot bathtubs and rooftop bar serving craft cocktails and Southern-brewed beers. In the rooms, floor-to-ceiling windows look down on The Gulch, one of Nashville's most desirable neighbourhoods, filled with bars, shops and restaurants. Not that you need to stray from the hotel to get a good meal, or even a good coffee. Killebrew Coffee is a hipster-style coffee shop just off the lobby, while the Marsh House restaurant has built its reputation on sustainable Southern seafood.

NATCHEZ, MISSISSIPPI
Monmouth Historic Inn & Gardens

Step back in time with a stay at this imposing early-19th-century antebellum mansion set in 26 acres of manicured gardens. The charming property is home to 30 rooms and suites, split between the main house and seven outbuildings, repurposed as cottages and guest homes. Suites are a vision of old Southern grandeur with canopied wooden beds, original artworks, exquisite antiques and other period furnishings. Guests gather in the evenings for pre-dinner drinks in the Quitman Lounge & Study before heading to the award-winning Restaurant 1818 to enjoy seasonal Southern fare in what were once the old parlour rooms. A great alternative, however, especially in summer, is to opt for a romantic picnic in the beautiful hotel grounds.

Four Seasons Hotel Nashville

Opened in late 2022, Four Seasons Hotel Nashville is one of the most exciting new hotels to reach the South in recent years. The 235 rooms, including 42 suites, are all elevated on the 7th to 14th floors to offer far-reaching views of the city or Cumberland River and feature clean-lined designs with hints of local black walnut, leather and burnished metal. The all-day dining restaurant focuses on seafood with a Southern influence, while the spa seduces with six sunlit treatment rooms, including a couple's suite. Most impressive of all, however, is the expansive rooftop terrace, complete with private cabanas, buzzing bar and grill, year-round heated hot tub and dazzling infinity-edged pool.

Arizona is famously an outdoor state, home to showstopping landmarks like the Grand Canyon as well as scintillating cities such as Scottsdale and Sedona. It's also easy to combine with the lights of Las Vegas – a must-see city if ever there was one.

Few things on earth are as staggering to behold as the Grand Canyon. The mile-deep chasm is 277 miles long and up to 18 miles wide. Its striated walls change colour by the hour and its numerous hiking trails are virtually peerless when it comes to dramatic views. But Arizona's wonders don't end there. The towering Saguaro cacti of the Sonoran Desert can reach 50 feet high. Camelback Mountain rewards climbers with sweeping views over Scottsdale. While on the border with Utah, the magnificent stone monoliths of Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park have formed the backdrop to Westerns since the 1930s.

City lovers will find much to admire too. Scottsdale is a hub for adventure, shopping and culture, with a vibrant Old Town filled with bars, restaurants and Native American art, as well as dozens of desert golf courses bathed in sunshine nearly every day of the year. To the north, Sedona lures travellers with its remarkable rock formations and exceptional spas. While across the border in neighbouring Nevada, Las Vegas dazzles with its theatrically themed hotels, timeless casinos, fabulous floor shows and celebrity-chef restaurants.

WHEN TO VISIT

The deserts of Arizona and Nevada can lead to some very high temperatures during the summer months, so the best times to visit are spring and autumn. March and April and October and November are ideal times to visit Las Vegas, Scottsdale and other parts of these states, with warm days, mild nights and very little rainfall year-round.

The 43 rooms are dotted throughout the grounds and feature private patios with views of the cactus gardens, mountains or corrals, though the focus here is not on the rooms but on the ranch activities. Ride on horseback through classic Western scenery, explore the ranch on a fat-tired e-bike, enjoy hiking, rock climbing, shooting and archery, or gaze at the stars with the resident astronomer.

SEDONA, ARIZONA

Enchantment Resort

Enchantment Resort's remote location, nine miles from Uptown Sedona, is key to the magic of staying here. Rustic adobe guestrooms with beehive fireplaces and private decks look out at arguably the most spectacular canyon in Sedona's Red Rock Country. The landscape was considered a place of healing by the Native Americans, a theme carried forward in the highly-acclaimed Mii amo destination spa. Incredibly, there are over 100 weekly activities to choose from, from hiking and mountain biking to stargazing, art classes, tennis, golf and tours of the local area. It's certainly enough to work up an appetite, something you'll want with you in the resort's three highly praised restaurants.

MARANA, ARIZONA

The Ritz-Carlton, Dove Mountain

Seamlessly woven into the Tortolita Mountain slopes just 30 minutes from Tucson, The Ritz-Carlton, Dove Mountain is a casually luxurious oasis set high in the Sonoran Desert. The 253 rooms, suites and casitas offer exceptional desert and mountain views, with interiors that take their cues from the scenery outside – think burnt orange hues and Native American patterns. The destination spa is wrapped by bouldered ravines, the inviting pool complex sits at the convergence of cactus-studded canyons, and guests have access to over 25 miles of breathtaking hiking trails. If that weren't enough, there are also three nine-hole golf courses and four terrific restaurants, including CORE Kitchen & Wine Bar with its 2,800-bottle wine cellar.

LAS VEGAS, NEVADA

The Venetian® Resort

The Venetian Resort has spared no expense in replicating Venice's most famous landmarks, including St Mark's Square with its iconic clock tower and a Grand Canal stocked with singing gondoliers. Add to this over 4,000 suites – the most basic of which are nearly double the size of your average Las Vegas hotel room – and you've got yourself a truly monumental hotel. Celebrity chefs rule the restaurant roost here, with offerings from Thomas Keller, Wolfgang Puck and David Chang among others, while facilities include a state-of-the-art casino, four large pools spread across two acres, a 134,000-square-foot spa with more than 90 treatment rooms, and an ever-changing roster of shows, events and nightly entertainment.

LAS VEGAS, NEVADA

The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas

The Cosmopolitan is chic and contemporary, with digital art installations, illuminated staircases and interactive sculptures set to dazzle from the outset. It's also huge, with a glamorous 100,000-square-foot casino, several floors of shops and designer boutiques, two fitness centres, outdoor tennis courts, three rooftop pools overlooking the Strip (one of which doubles as the hotel's lively Day Club), an indulgent spa with its own hammam, plus a one-of-a-kind collection of 26 restaurants. With towering arches, vast canyons and striking stone monoliths, Utah's landscapes are truly extraordinary. Scenic byways reveal some of America's finest drives, while adventure awaits in every form, from hiking and rafting to stargazing and horse riding.

It's hard to pick a favourite among Utah's five national parks. Zion, the oldest, is a striking mix of red rock canyons, pine-covered peaks and the winding Virgin River – ideal for hiking, climbing and canyoning. Nearby, Bryce Canyon enchants with thousands of colourful hoodoos rising from its natural amphitheatres. In the heart of the state lies Capitol Reef National Park, a quieter gem of domes, cliffs and canyons. Further east, Canyonlands impresses with vast mesas and dramatic sandstone formations; the drive to the Needles is among Utah's most scenic. Close by is Arches National Park, home to over 2,000 natural rock arches, including the iconic Delicate Arch and the astonishing Landscape Arch.

Utah's parks are remarkably easy to combine on a self-drive journey. Zion and Bryce Canyon are under 90 miles apart, while Arches and Canyonlands lie minutes from Moab, the region's adventure capital. Beyond the parks, Salt Lake City offers cultural contrast, with Temple Square at its centre. Within an hour's drive east you'll find world-class skiing at Park City and Deer Valley, while the Bonneville Salt Flats reveal yet another side to this breathtaking state.

Salt Lake City

WHEN TO VISIT

For the national parks and scenery in southern and eastern Utah, the best time to travel is during late spring and late summer, with more comfortable temperatures from May to June and September to October. Salt Lake City is a year-round destination, while the ski season for resorts including Park City and Deer Valley usually lasts from the end of November to mid-April.

Canyon Country

DURATION

11 nights / 12 days

SUMMARY

- 2 nights Salt Lake City
- 3 nights Moab
- 1 night Capitol Reef National Park
- 2 nights Bryce Canyon
- 3 nights Zion National Park

This 12-day self-drive itinerary takes you right across Utah from Salt Lake City in the north to the neon lights of Vegas in neighbouring Nevada. In doing so you'll travel through some of America's most spectacular desert landscapes – a geological kaleidoscope of twisted rock formations, huge stone arches, narrow slot canyons and soaring sandstone cliffs.

DAYS 1-2: SALT LAKE CITY

Fly into Utah's state capital, collect your hire car at the airport and drive to the Asher Adams hotel for a two-night stay. A modern hotel housed in an historic downtown building, the hotel is perfectly placed for exploring Salt Lake City and its nearby attractions, such as Temple Square, the ski resorts of Park City and Deer Valley, and the otherworldly Bonneville Salt Flats, where several land-speed records have been set.

DAYS 3-5: ARCHES & CANYONLANDS NATIONAL PARKS

Drive south to Moab for a three-night stay at Hoodoo Moab, Curio Collection by Hilton, just 10 minutes from the entrance to Arches National Park. The park features more than 2,000 natural stone arches, many of which are near the park road, though we recommend a guided hike to really get immersed in the red rock landscape. Only a little further afield is Canyonlands National Park, the largest of Utah's parks and arguably the most magnificent. Split into three sections by the confluence of the Green and Colorado rivers, it covers more than 500 square miles of canyons, fissures, plateaux and faults, scattered with flat-topped mesas, ancient rock art, winding roads and hiking trails.

Salt Lake City

DAY 6: CAPITOL REEF NATIONAL PARK

From Moab, drive west to spend the day exploring Capitol Reef National Park. Maybe lace up your boots for a hike to Hickman Bridge, a natural sandstone arch 125 feet high and 133 feet long, or cruise along the eight-mile Capitol Reef Scenic Drive, stopping to take photos at breathtaking viewpoints. Check in for the night at the 58-acre Capitol Reef Resort near Torrey, which as well as rooms offers glamping opportunities in cabins, teepees or even Conestoga wagons.

DAY 7: GRAND STAIRCASE-ESCALANTE NATIONAL MONUMENT

Spend the day exploring Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument en route to The Lodge at Bryce Canyon, where you'll stay for the next two nights. The monument offers more exceptional hiking and scenic driving opportunities. It's home to the most extensive network of slot canyons in Utah and is awash with active waterfalls, sculpted slickrock, prehistoric sites and abandoned old Western movie sets.

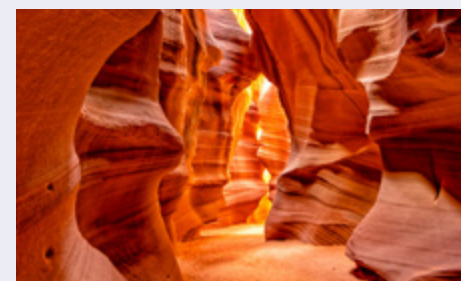

DAY 8: BRYCE CANYON NATIONAL PARK

Discover Bryce Canyon National Park. Despite its name, the park does not protect a canyon but a series of natural amphitheatres that the elements have sculpted into a forest of bizarre rock pinnacles known as 'hoodoos' – one of the most surreal yet spectacular sights you'll see in the Southwest.

DAYS 9-12: ZION NATIONAL PARK

End your trip with three nights at Cliffrose Springdale, Curio Collection by Hilton, just 200 metres from the entrance to Zion National Park. Many of the park's greatest geological wonders are best seen on hiking trails such as Emerald Pools, The Narrows, The Watchman and Angels Landing. We recommend booking a private guided walking tour. Drive to Las Vegas on Day 12 to catch your flight home.

Slot Canyons

Utah is home to the largest concentration of slot canyons in the world – narrow gorges in the soft sandstone sculpted into unimaginable shapes by wind, rain and flash floods. We can arrange visits to suit all levels, including hikes through neighbouring Arizona's Antelope Canyon with a Navajo guide, and technical trips for the would-be adventurer using ropes and harnesses.

Dark Sky Parks

After the sun sets and the sandstone has cooled, Utah's internationally recognised Dark Sky Parks offer a chance to see the night sky as you may never have seen it before, unobscured by the glow of urban settlement. A lot of national and state parks offer ranger-led stargazing tours. Bryce Canyon National Park even holds an annual Astronomy Festival in June.

Canyon Spirit

Spend either two or three days marvelling at the vast canyons and soaring red sandstone walls of the American Southwest aboard luxury train Canyon Spirit. Choose the two-day journey from Denver to Moab with an overnight stop in Glenwood Springs or travel on to Salt Lake City on the day-three extension. Both routes can also be done in reverse.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

Asher Adams, Autograph Collection

There's no doubt where the soul of the Asher Adams lies. While the sleek new guest tower houses the majority of the 225 luxurious rooms, many of which feature west-facing balconies or floor-to-ceiling windows with Wasatch mountain views, the soul of the Asher Adams is undoubtedly the old Union Pacific Train Depot. Built at the start of the 20th century, this now houses the main lobby and the four bars and restaurants. These include signature restaurant Rouser, designed to evoke the feelings of a classic Pullman train car, and The Bar at Asher Adams, which sits in the middle of the main hall, built into the train station's original ticket windows. The location is first class too, in the heart of downtown, right across the street from the home of the Utah Jazz.

ZION NATIONAL PARK, UTAH

Cliffrose Springdale, Curio Collection by Hilton

Sitting on the banks of the Virgin River, just 200 metres from the entrance to Zion National Park, this rock- and wood-covered sanctuary blends perfectly with the surrounding sandstone mountains that can't help but steal the show. Inside the rooms, suites and villas, simple modern furnishings are paired with more upscale amenities like private decks with views into the park, large soaking tubs and – in the case of the Grand View Villa – vaulted ceilings and a full kitchen. Outside, hummingbird feeders hang from patio rafters, providing live entertainment as you sip your morning coffee; the riverside pool and hot tub are open year-round offering unobstructed views of the surrounding peaks; while the Five Petals Spa boasts a hiker-friendly range of massages and facials.

MOAB, UTAH

Sorrell River Ranch Resort & Spa

The most luxurious hotel in the Moab area, Sorrell River Ranch is set on 240 acres of ranchland, surrounded by some of the most spectacular scenery in the United States. Cabin-style studios and larger suites are imbued with cowboy charm and boast private decks, large picture windows, custom-made, bright wooden furniture and views either to the Colorado River or Professor Valley and La Sal Mountains. Off-road driving, guided hikes and horse riding in the nearby national parks are top of most guests' agendas, with a relaxing spa and yoga classes ready to help you recover from miles on the trails. There's also an excellent farm-to-fork restaurant, a petting zoo for kids, a variety of lawn games and nightly campfires for roasting marshmallows.

CANYON POINT, UTAH

Amangiri

Set in the otherworldly landscape of Utah's southern deserts, a stone's throw from Lake Powell and the Arizona border, this impressive feat of architectural daring is one of the most exclusive hotels in America. Rather than try to temper the hard edges of the desert with ornate, plush interiors, Aman have gone the other way, offering stylised suites whose white stone floors, concrete walls and natural timber furnishings strain the very limits of minimalism, while offering breathtaking views of the desert surroundings. An attractive central pool curves dramatically round a tower of natural sandstone. The 25,000-square-foot Aman Spa offers treatments shaped by the traditions of the Navajo. And experiences range from boat trips on Lake Powell to via ferrata challenges high in the desert mountains.

MOAB, UTAH

Hoodoo Moab, Curio Collection by Hilton

Just 10 minutes from Arches National Park and less than 40 minutes from Canyonlands, this smart and modern hotel provides easy access to two of the finest parks in Utah while maintaining a convenient location off Main Street in the heart of Moab's quaint downtown. Comfortable rooms have coffee makers, 55-inch HD TVs and either a king or twin queen beds, while suites offer a separate living area, a balcony or patio off the bedroom and spectacular views of Moab's red rocks and dramatic landscapes. Joise Wyatt's Grille serves sumptuous steaks and sushi alongside a menu of hand-crafted cocktails. Plus there's a full-service spa and outdoor pool that's heated year-round, perfect for relaxing after action-packed days spent hiking, canyoning or off-road driving.

PARK CITY, UTAH

Montage Deer Valley

An elegant mountain getaway, Montage Deer Valley provides unrivalled ski-in/ski-out access to one of America's premier ski resorts. With only a limited number of ski passes sold each day, Deer Valley is the crème de la crème of American skiing, with miles of pristine, well-groomed slopes. Ski hire, lift passes and lessons at the ski school can all be arranged direct from the hotel. Of course, the setting is equally appealing come summer, when activities range from hiking and mountain biking to fly-fishing, horse riding and white-water rafting. Whatever the season, rooms are large and luxurious, with gas fireplaces and marble baths standard from top to bottom. Additional highlights include a capacious spa complex, a pool, a bowling alley and a host of great restaurants.

RANCHES & RESORTS

The American West is a vast wilderness of grassy plains, snow-capped peaks and rushing blue rivers. A stay at a luxury resort or ranch doesn't just offer an authentic cowboy experience - complete with roping, riding and cookouts beneath the stars - it gives free rein to your sense of adventure.

We offer a selection of ranch and resort holidays across Montana, Wyoming and South Dakota, from ultra-luxe resorts and all-inclusive stays to adults-only ranches and family favourites. For aspiring cowboys, there's nothing quite like bringing in a herd on a genuine cattle drive. But you don't need to ride to make the most of a ranch holiday. The huge amount of activities on offer means there's something for everyone, from skiing, sledging and snowshoeing in winter to fly-fishing, hiking, rafting, mountain biking, wagon rides and more in summer. Dining is just as eclectic, with Michelin-worthy restaurants serving locally sourced produce and beef reared on the land to incredible wine cellars and on-site distilleries.

Beyond your resort lie the other attractions of the American West. Both Glacier and Grand Teton national parks offer breathtaking mountain scenery. Yellowstone dazzles with its spurting geysers and colourful hot springs. And history is displayed on a monumental scale at the Mount Rushmore and Crazy Horse national memorials, the former depicting the faces of four US presidents, the latter a portrayal of a revered Lakota warrior.

Old Faithful Geysers | Yellowstone

WHEN TO VISIT

Experience Montana, Wyoming and South Dakota from June to September, when warm weather and fully open national parks allow for outdoor activities and sightseeing. Spring weather can be unpredictable, with lingering snow. Autumn offers brilliant colours, but early snowfall can cause disruption. Most ski runs are open by late November and operate well into March, or even later depending on winter conditions, but many park roads close and temperatures often fall below freezing.

CALIFORNIA

From the misty redwood forests and gently rolling vineyards of the north to the sweeping deserts and sun-kissed beaches of the south, California's diversity makes it one of the most exciting states to visit in the whole of the USA.

If America has an answer to Tuscany, it's Napa Valley and Sonoma, where world-class wines meet exceptional hotels and restaurants. To the east, Lake Tahoe shimmers in shades of green and blue, a paradise for watersports enthusiasts in summer and skiers in winter. Further south, Yosemite National Park showcases iconic landscapes, from El Capitan, the world's largest granite monolith, to Yosemite Falls and Half Dome.

Below wine country lies the City by the Bay, San Francisco, home to vintage cable cars, Alcatraz, Fisherman's Wharf and the Golden Gate Bridge. It also marks the start of one of the world's greatest roads: the Pacific Coast Highway. This breathtaking drive winds along the Big Sur coastline, a dramatic stretch where cliffs plunge into the roaring Pacific. From there, head to Santa Barbara, the 'American Riviera', before arriving in the glamour of Los Angeles. LA has something for everyone, from Beverly Hills' designer boutiques to the amusements of Santa Monica and Hollywood's famed attractions. Further south, Palm Springs offers a desert escape, while San Diego's stunning beaches and vibrant downtown make it an irresistible finale.

WHEN TO VISIT

Southern California can be visited year-round; summers are hot and dry while winters are slightly cooler with a small amount of rain. Northern California has a more temperate climate with warm summer days but cold winters. The northern coast experiences rain and fog during the winter while the mountains have some snowfall.

Most visits to Hawai'i start in O'ahu, the 'gathering place'. Hawaiian royalty first built their homes on Waikiki Beach and today, nearly 350,000 people call Honolulu home. The Pearl Harbor National Memorial offers a moving insight into a pivotal moment in US history, while a hike up Lē'ahi crater delivers breathtaking Waikiki views. From November to March, the island's North Shore sees monstrous waves break at Sunset Beach, Waimea Bay and the legendary Banzai Pipeline. Maui, the second most populous island, offers whale watching, stunning beaches and some of Hawai'i's swankiest resorts. Watching sunrise from the summit of Haleakalā Volcano is unforgettable, as is driving the winding Hana Highway, which weaves past waterfalls, beaches and lush rainforest.

Though if it's rainforests you want, you might prefer Kaua'i, the 'Garden Isle'. The oldest Hawaiian island, it's a lush, laidback paradise. Two-thirds are jungle-covered while the rest boasts dramatic landscapes, including the soaring Na Pali Coast and the breathtaking Waimea Canyon. Then there's Hawai'i Island, home to Hawai'i Volcanoes National Park and two of the world's most active volcanoes, one still spewing lava today.

It's the perfect base from which to explore the island. Follow Crater Rim Drive through Hawai'i Volcanoes National Park to Kilauea Volcano, which has been spewing lava almost continuously since 1983. Hike to the spectacular Akaka Falls or along the Kona Coast to the Captain Cook Monument, which marks the site where the British explorer who discovered the Hawaiian islands was killed in 1779. Or pleasure your sweet tooth at Original Hawaiian Chocolate, the world's only producers of 100% Hawaiian chocolate.

And amazingly, 80% of menu items in all of the resort's restaurants are sourced from the waters and farms around Hawaii.

CITY COLLECTION

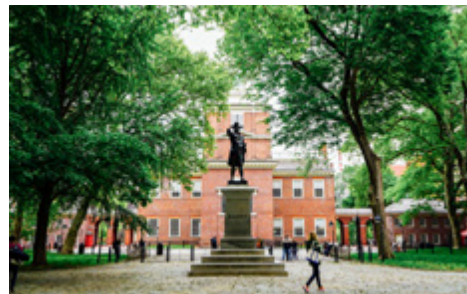

With heavy hitters like New York, Los Angeles and Boston to contend with, many of America's most captivating cities are too easily overlooked when it comes to planning holidays. Here are three of our favourite unsung heroes, all of which make for highly memorable city breaks, while over the page we look at west-coast cultural trendsetter, Seattle. We've plenty more ideas where these came from though, so do ask our experts about their favourite city stays.

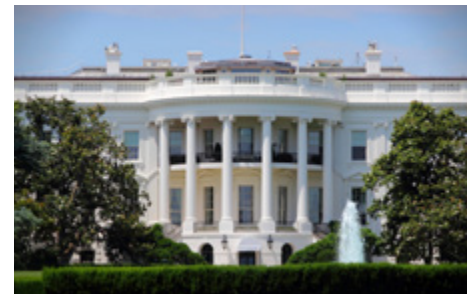

Chicago

After New York, Chicago is America's most vital cultural capital and is a hard-to-beat choice for a scintillating city break. Fabulous restaurants like three-Michelin-star Alinea, memorable museums like the Art Institute of Chicago, parades of Frank Lloyd Wright architecture, and a jazz, blues and music scene that's second to none are all just a few of the Windy City's highlights. For a bird's eye view of it all from a glass-floored floating balcony, visit Skydeck Chicago on the 103rd floor of the Willis Tower, or walk the shore of Lake Michigan for stunning views back at the rising city skyline.

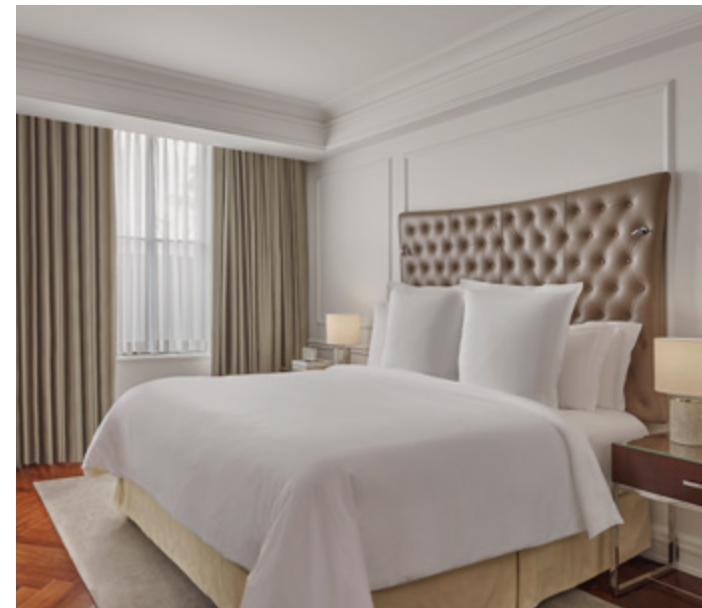

Philadelphia

There's a lot to love about the City of Brotherly Love. History fans can stand in the room where the Declaration of Independence was signed in 1776, or in the crumbling cell that once held Al Capone. Movie buffs can climb the famous 'Rocky Steps' or get their picture taken by the Rocky Balboa statue. At the Barnes Museum, art lovers can see the largest number of privately owned impressionist paintings in the world. Shoppers can run wild at the King of Prussia Mall, one of the largest in America. While foodies can weigh in on the greatest debate in town: who exactly serves the finest Philly cheesesteak?

Washington, D.C.

America's capital is teeming with iconic monuments, museums, parks and broad boulevards. In springtime, cherry blossoms bloom along the city's centrepiece, the National Mall, home to such imposing landmarks as the Washington Monument and Lincoln Memorial, where Daniel Chester French's massive sculpture of the brooding president sits, the stirring words of his Gettysburg Address etched behind him. Other places of interest include the world's largest library, the Library of Congress, the Neoclassical White House and the US Capitol, which holds the House and Senate chambers of government.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Rosewood Washington, D.C.

Set on the banks of the C&O Canal, Rosewood Washington, D.C. combines the intimacy of a boutique retreat with the service and facilities of a larger hotel. The understated brick facade barely hints at the grandeur inside: opulent wood panelling, parquet flooring from a French chateau, and plush leather chairs that give the feel of an old clubhouse. The 55 rooms, including 12 suites and six townhouses, offer more square footage than most urban hotels and come with high-end comforts like touch-panel technology, Nespresso machines and glass-enclosed rainfall showers. Celebrity chef Wolfgang Puck helms the F&B offerings, while facilities range from in-room spa treatments to a rooftop pool with views of the Potomac and Washington Monument.

CHICAGO

Viceroy Chicago

Conveniently located in the exclusive Gold Coast neighbourhood, Viceroy Chicago is a swanky mix of vintage and contemporary, with the upper floors – a gleaming glass tower that's pure modern luxury – sitting atop the meticulously preserved facade of the 1920s hotel that was here before it. Design flourishes throughout are both polished and playful, from the towering blue wall of Proustian poetry in the avant-garde lobby, to the wallpaper art behind the beds in the rooms, where attention is focused on the jaw-dropping views from the floor-to-ceiling windows. The restaurant, Somerset, serves seasonal American dishes, while the rooftop lounge Pandan offers cocktails and light bites beside an outdoor pool with sensational skyline views.

PHILADELPHIA

Four Seasons Hotel Philadelphia at Comcast Center

Designed by Norman Foster, this fabulous Four Seasons is the highest hotel in North America and consequently offers breathtaking views over the city of Philadelphia; they're especially arresting from the rooftop infinity pool, reserved exclusively for hotel guests. Rooms and suites are spread over 10 floors and boast floor-to-ceiling windows, minibars with cocktail-making ingredients and the latest touch- and voice-activated technology. Local chef Greg Vernick helms the buzzy oyster bar and brasserie, while acclaimed chef Jean-Georges Vongerichten offers tantalising tasting menus at the fine-dining restaurant. To relax, visit the peaceful spa complete with 700lb of healing crystals built into the walls. To explore, ask the concierge about the raft of local tours and activities available.

SEATTLE, WASHINGTON

Be Dazzled by America's Emerald City

A TASTE OF SEATTLE

4-Day City Break

Dive into the best of the Emerald City with three days of seafood, culture and outdoor adventure

Day 1 Arrive on a direct flight from London and transfer to Lotte Hotel Seattle. Venture up the Space Needle to take in your surroundings then head to the waterfront to sample Seattle's famous seafood trifecta: Dungeness crab, wild salmon and oysters.

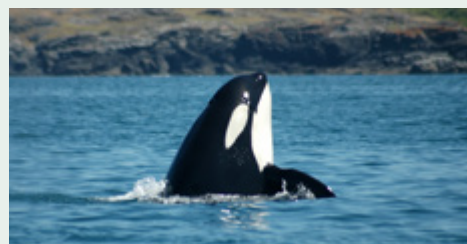

Day 2 Start the day with a private food tour of Pike Place Market, getting the inside scoop from its merchants, chefs and store owners. After lunch, embrace the city's art and museum scene with visits to the Museum of Pop Culture or the sleek and contemporary Seattle Art Museum. Then toast the city's culture in the Ballard Brewery District.

Day 3 Cross pretty Puget Sound for a full-day tour of Olympic National Park, taking in its moss-draped forests, piercing azure lakes and striking mountain peaks.

Day 4 Enjoy views of the downtown skyline, Space Needle and Elliot Bay from beautiful Kerry Park before transferring to the airport for your flight home.

There are few cities in the world blessed with a more beautiful setting than Seattle. Sitting at the edge of picturesque Puget Sound, America's Emerald City is the gateway to the Pacific Northwest and the spectacular landscapes of Olympic, Mount Rainier and North Cascades national parks, all of which lie within a few hours' drive of the city. Several cruises to Alaska also start from the Seattle waterfront, while a little offshore, the gloriously scenic San Juan Islands offer some of the best orca watching in the world, as well as chances to spot seals, sea lions and porpoises.

Of course there's plenty to explore in Seattle itself too, not least the world famous Pike Place Market, one of the oldest farmers' markets in America; the original Starbucks, which began in 1971 as a simple hole-in-the-wall coffee shop before spawning a caffeine revolution that spread around the world; the iconic Space Needle, 605 feet high and home to the world's first and only revolving glass floor; and the immersive Museum of Pop Culture, whose detailed exhibits cover everything from musicians and their instruments to science fiction, video games and influential films.

"Seattle is undoubtedly one of my favourite US cities. An organised food tour is a great way to experience Pike Place Market, still home to the best seafood chowder I've ever tasted. From there head up the Space Needle for panoramic views of downtown and - on a clear day - mighty Mount Rainier in the distance. I also recommend taking a seaplane flight over pretty Puget Sound. As well as more terrific views, we spotted Tom Hanks's house from Sleepless in Seattle"

San Francisco

Nobska Lighthouse | Cape Cod

Everglades National Park | Florida

Central Park | New York

INSIDE THE USA WITH

Clare Sheldrick

What's your favourite US city and what must I do while I'm there?

New York without a doubt. Be sure to picnic in Central Park, gaze in awe at Times Square and ride the ferry to Liberty Island. But leave time for some of the newer attractions too, like walking the High Line, a 1.5-mile urban park that snakes through the Meatpacking District 30 feet above street level.

Which of the tourist hotspots live up to the hype?

If you're in San Francisco you should certainly visit Alcatraz. Once home to such notorious criminals as Al Capone, America's most famous prison makes for a wonderful half-day excursion, and the self-guided audio tour gives a fascinating insight into life on 'The Rock'.

Where should I take the family?

For a good old-fashioned family holiday, head to the beaches of Cape Cod in New England. The powdery sand and calm waters of the cape's south side are especially child-friendly, and there are great opportunities for biking, fishing, boating and whale watching.

Where should I go to get back to nature?

Southern Florida is amazing for nature lovers. Head into the Everglades with a naturalist guide to spot pelicans, alligators, dolphins and manatees. Or head further south to the Florida Keys, which offer some of the best marine life encounters in the States. Dive the Shipwreck Trail off Key Largo. Kayak or paddleboard through the mangrove islands of the Great White Heron National Wildlife Refuge. And snorkel among rainbow-coloured parrotfish in the Looe Key National Marine Sanctuary.

What's the best way to travel around the States?

The most convenient and flexible way is to self-drive, which allows you to go at your own pace, stopping at whatever takes your fancy along the way. We'll help you find the vehicle that's right for you and your companions, be it a soft-top convertible for cruising in the sunshine or an SUV for better sit-up-high views. We can even arrange motorhome and motorcycle hire.

CANADA

As the world's second-largest country, Canada boasts breathtaking landscapes, incredible wildlife and cities rich in cultural and historical treasures.

A self-drive itinerary through the rearing Rocky Mountains from Jasper to Banff offers access to some of the most spectacular mountain scenery in the world, including the 30-square-mile Columbia Icefield and the jade-green waters of magical Lake Louise. The views are just as good aboard luxury train the Rocky Mountaineer, whose all-daylight journeys connect vibrant Vancouver to either Banff or Jasper. On the unforgiving tundra of the Hudson Bay coast, guests can spot polar bears on their annual migration and may even catch a glimpse of the ethereal Northern Lights. In British Columbia, remote luxury lodges offer rare opportunities to watch grizzly and spirit bears catching salmon in the wild.

You can kayak with orcas off Vancouver Island and spot humpbacks, belugas and even blue whales in Quebec's Saguenay Fjord. In Ontario, Niagara Falls plunges 20 storeys. While in the maritime province of Newfoundland & Labrador, locals stock their freezers with fragments of passing icebergs. It's not all about wildlife and wilderness though. In Montréal, Parisian flair mixes with the bustle of a cutting-edge city. Old Québec was built by the French in the 17th century and richly deserves its status as a UNESCO World Heritage site. Toronto offers breathtaking views from the top of the CN Tower, while Vancouver enjoys one of North America's most exciting and cosmopolitan restaurant scenes.

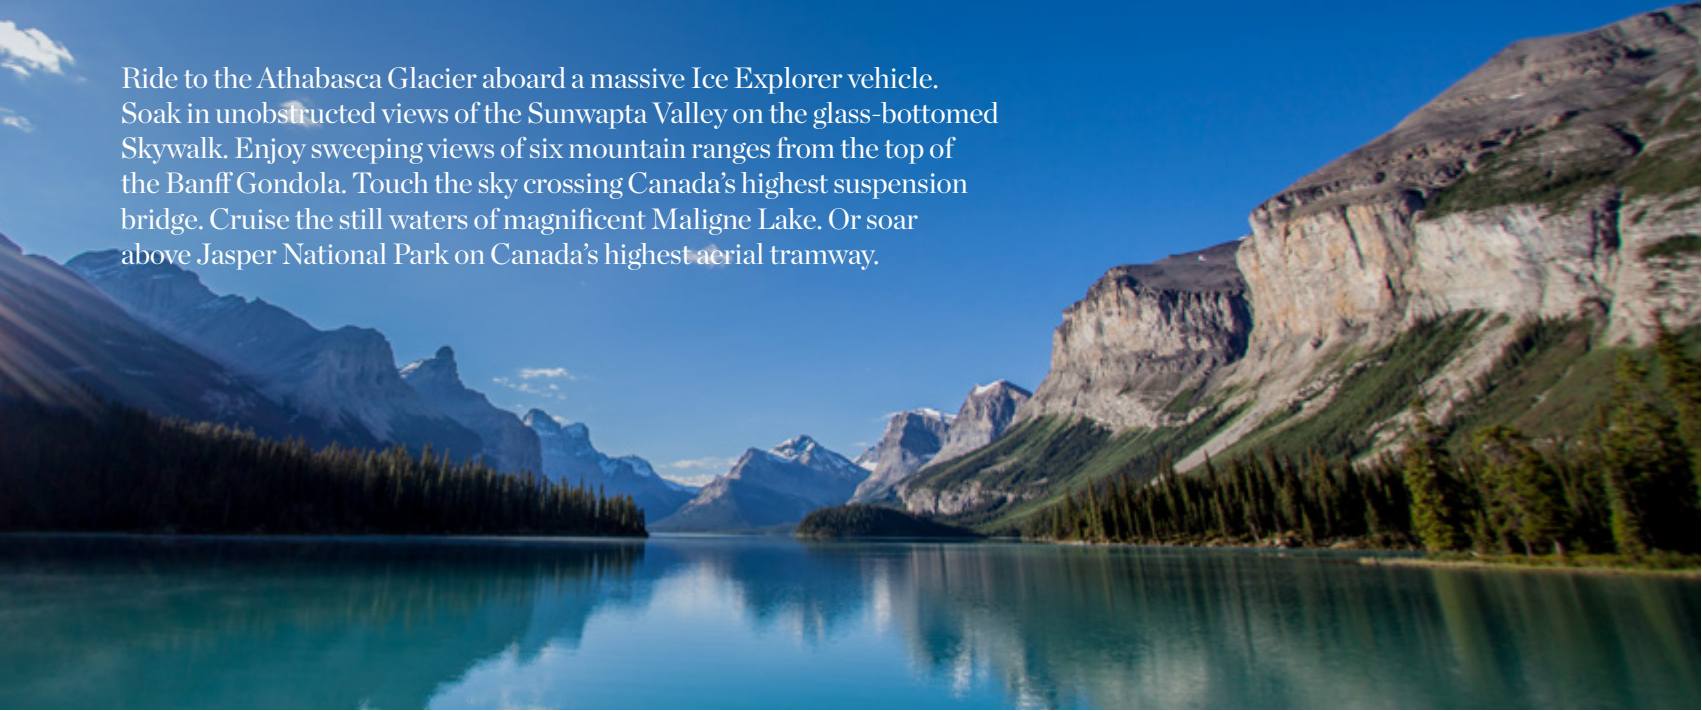

Our Canada specialists have stayed in the hotels, driven the mountain roads and sampled the best poutine. Working seamlessly with your travel agent, they'll craft you the perfect Canadian journey – one designed around you and how you like to travel.

Road Trips

For many of our clients, hiring a car is the ideal way to discover Canada. The country's well-maintained roads are easy to navigate and often relatively empty, plus you're able to stop whenever the mood takes you – for a hike or a picnic, to admire the stunning scenery or to marvel at the wildlife often seen along the roadside. Western Canada is home to several of the world's most breathtaking roads, including the Sea to Sky Highway that connects Vancouver to Whistler and the 142-mile Icefields Parkway that runs along the backbone of the Rockies between Jasper and Banff. In the east, the Frank MacDougall Parkway cuts through Algonquin Provincial Park in Ontario, revealing glassy lakes and hills aflame with maple trees. While in Nova Scotia, the famous Cabot Trail winds around the coast of Cape Breton Island, passing browsing moose and dizzying ocean views.

Motorhomes

Motorhomes – or RVs, as they're called in Canada – are a very cost-effective way to travel, providing transport, accommodation and cooking equipment all in one. We can arrange for you to collect your motorhome in a wide range of locations, including Vancouver, Calgary, Toronto, Montréal and Halifax. You can even take motorhomes on all BC Ferries, making it easy to combine a trip to Vancouver Island with a journey over the Rockies from Vancouver to Calgary. However, popular ferries can fill up weeks in advance, so we recommend you book ahead to avoid disappointment. Parks Canada manages campsites right across the country, many of them catering to motorhome drivers, offering electric, sewer and water hookups, Wi-Fi zones, grocery stores, playgrounds, picnic shelters, fire pits and more.

Rail Journeys

There's no doubt that Rocky Mountaineer helped establish Canada as one of the world's greatest countries for travelling by train (see page 104). But it's not the only way to ride the rails in comfort. Our suggested itinerary through Ontario and Québec (see page 112) uses business class travel aboard VIA Rail to link Toronto, Ottawa, Montréal and Québec City. And that's just one example of what's possible on the network. You can cross the whole country from Toronto to Vancouver in your own private suite in Prestige Class aboard The Canadian; take a sleeper train from Montréal to Halifax through the scenic landscapes of Québec and the Maritimes; or ride all the way from Winnipeg to the frozen shores of Hudson Bay to spot polar bears in Churchill.

Experiences

Lusso can book all manner of unique experiences that will help lift your trip from ordinary to extraordinary. Explore Canada's landscapes from coast to coast with Flyover in Vancouver, an immersive flying experience that sees your legs dangling in chairlift-style seats before a spherical 20-metre screen. Or fly for real on a seaplane tour from Victoria Harbour or a helicopter flight above Niagara Falls, the Canadian Rockies or the Whistler and Blackcomb mountains. Prefer to take to the water? Then how about a cruise through Ontario's magical 1,000 Islands, a whale watching tour on the Bay of Fundy or an up-close look at imperious icebergs as they steadily drift past the coast of Newfoundland? Maybe you're travelling in winter. Then let us book you a stay at Québec's famous Ice Hotel or a dogsledding adventure in the wilds of Alberta. If you can imagine it, we can probably book it.

CANADA

Wildlife & Wilderness

Canada is a paradise for wildlife enthusiasts. The Clayoquot Sound Biosphere Reserve on Vancouver Island is one of the planet's last remaining tracts of temperate rainforest, home to black bears, wolves, cougars, eagles, seals, orcas and huge pods of grey whales. The Great Bear Rainforest that extends up much of British Columbia's coastline offers sanctuary to endangered sprit bears as well as large numbers of grizzly and black bears. In northern Manitoba, beluga whales mass in their thousands to breed and calve in summer, while October and November see hundreds of polar bears gather around Churchill as they wait to hunt seals on the frozen Hudson Bay. Here, we look at four of the country's finest remote lodges, where wildlife and wilderness are top of the agenda.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Knight Inlet Lodge

Knight Inlet Lodge lies 60 kilometres from the mouth of British Columbia's longest fjord in the southern stretches of the Great Bear Rainforest. Indigenous-owned, the floating lodge offers some of the best grizzly bear watching on the planet and is at the forefront of conservation and environmental stewardship. Accessible via floatplane, the lodge is open from May to October, with both black and grizzly bears emerging from hibernation from April onwards.

Spring is a wonderful time to see mothers with their cubs. In summer, berries and grasses attract bears of all ages, while autumn sees dozens of grizzlies converge on the rivers to catch salmon. From mid-July, the area is also frequented by 16 different pods of orca, making it one of the few places in the world where you can spot whales and bears on the same day. Accommodation is in simple but comfortable rooms, while meals champion local ingredients caught fresh from Knight Inlet.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Berry Island Wilderness Lodge

Berry Island Wilderness Lodge, is a family-owned eco-retreat located in the Broughton Archipelago, on the edge of the Great Bear Rainforest. Unreachable by road, guests are transferred by water taxi from Alder Bay on Vancouver Island and frequently get sidetracked by curious sea lions or playful dolphins on their way to the lodge. It's a taste of what's to come in the days ahead as the lodge is famous for its wildlife viewing, offering intimate grizzly bear spotting from small zodiac boats as well as whale watching trips to spot humpbacks and orcas.

Activities are all about exploring the untamed landscape, from sea kayaking through the peaceful channels of the archipelago to forest bathing, stand-up paddleboarding, rainforest hikes and cold-water swimming – preferably followed by a soak in the open-air hot tub. The lodge itself features a wraparound deck and a comfortable lounge and dining room. The atmosphere is intimate with just 12 rooms, all with beautiful ocean views, including four that float above the mirror-calm waters of Farewell Harbour.

Clayoquot Wilderness Lodge

Tucked away in the UNESCO-listed Clayoquot Sound Biosphere Reserve on Vancouver Island, Clayoquot Wilderness Lodge is one of Canada's finest off-grid retreats, accessible only via seaplane from Vancouver or by boat from Tofino. Accommodation comprises 25 luxurious safari tents, either on the waterfront or ensconced in the rainforest, complete with comfortable king bed, underfloor heating, wood-burning stove, outdoor veranda and specially commissioned furnishings from local designers.

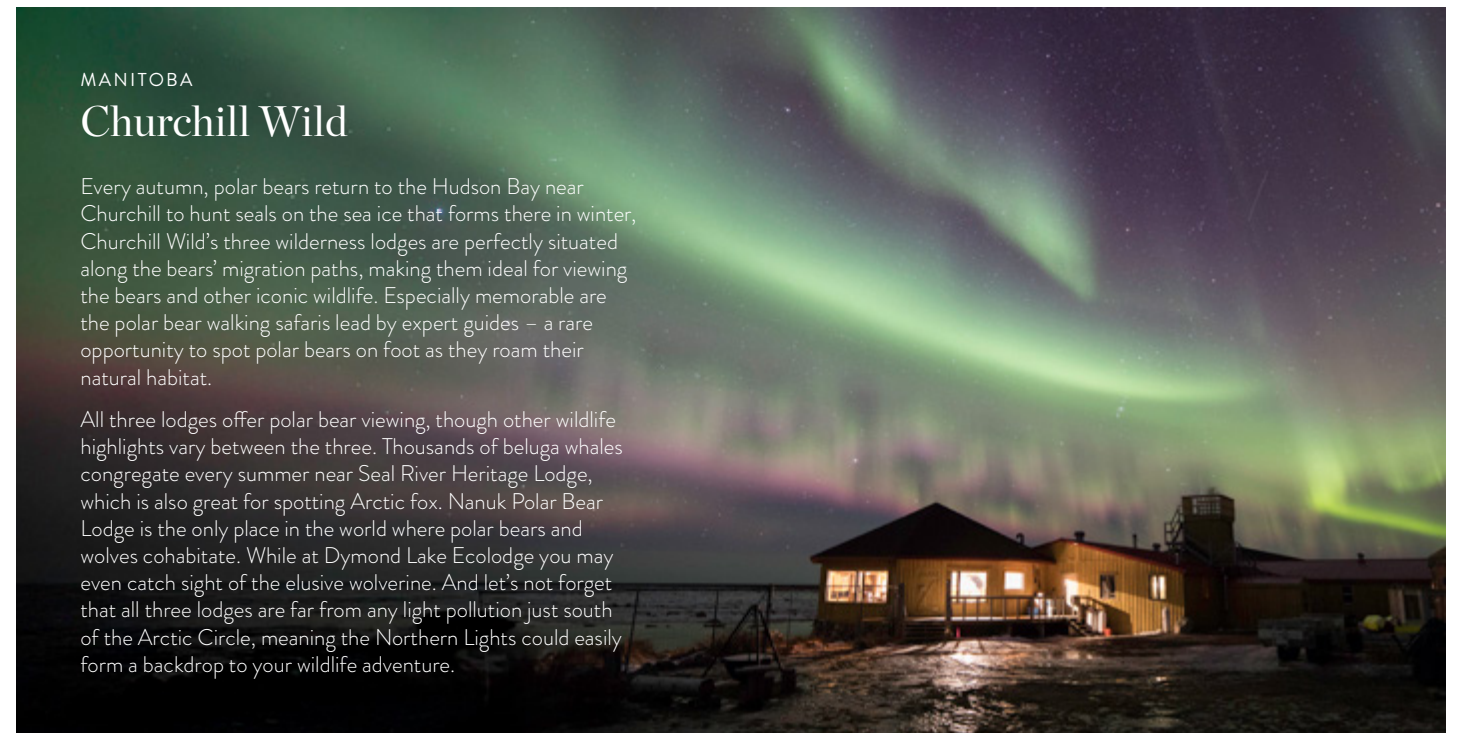

The ranch-style log cookhouse serves a daily-changing menu of locally sourced, sustainable produce, while the Healing Grounds Spa boasts a waterfront massage tent, wood-fired sauna and series of hot tubs looking out towards the sound. But the main attraction is of course the outdoors, with black bears, whales, eagles and sea otters all regularly spotted as well as activities ranging from horse riding, kayaking, hiking and fishing and also a carefully curated menu of helicopter excursions.

MANITOBA

Churchill Wild

Every autumn, polar bears return to the Hudson Bay near Churchill to hunt seals on the sea ice that forms there in winter, Churchill Wild's three wilderness lodges are perfectly situated along the bears' migration paths, making them ideal for viewing the bears and other iconic wildlife. Especially memorable are the polar bear walking safaris led by expert guides – a rare opportunity to spot polar bears on foot as they roam their natural habitat.

All three lodges offer polar bear viewing, though other wildlife highlights vary between the three. Thousands of beluga whales congregate every summer near Seal River Heritage Lodge, which is also great for spotting Arctic fox. Nanuk Polar Bear Lodge is the only place in the world where polar bears and wolves cohabitate. While at Dymond Lake Ecolodge you may even catch sight of the elusive wolverine. And let's not forget that all three lodges are far from any light pollution just south of the Arctic Circle, meaning the Northern Lights could easily form a backdrop to your wildlife adventure.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

From vibrant Vancouver to the rugged beauty of the Rocky Mountains, British Columbia is a land of contrasts. Here, luxury meets untamed nature, with remote wilderness lodges, world-class rail journeys and spectacular national parks waiting to be explored.

Framed by the Pacific and the North Shore Mountains, Vancouver has a setting to rival that of Sydney or Rio, not to mention a renowned restaurant scene and expansive green spaces like vast Stanley Park, with its ancient cedars and First Nations totem poles.

Across the water lies Victoria, the provincial capital, known for its gardens and heritage charm. But it's the wilderness of Vancouver Island that truly captivates, from orca sightings on the ferry crossing over to the pristine beauty of the Clayoquot Sound Biosphere Reserve, one of the planet's last remaining tracts of temperate rainforest, home to wolves, bears and the luxurious Clayoquot Wilderness Lodge. Other remote lodges in the wilds of British Columbia include Knight Inlet Lodge and Sonora Resort in the fjords that furrow the province's west coast, both wonderful places to spot grizzlies in the wild.

Back on the mainland, the scenic Sea to Sky Highway connects Vancouver to Whistler for skiing in winter and hiking in summer. Alternatively, board the Rocky Mountaineer for a luxury rail journey into the Rockies, overnighting in Kamloops before ending either in Banff or Jasper.

Vancouver Skyline

WHEN TO VISIT

British Columbia rewards visitors year-round. Spring brings blossom and mild days, summer offers long light-filled hours for hiking and coastal exploration. Autumn drapes the forests and vineyards in rich colour while winter is ideal for skiing and snowbound adventures. Wildlife lovers should visit from May to September, when whale watching and bear viewing are at their very best.

Three Unforgettable Rail Routes

Journey Through the Clouds Vancouver to Jasper

This glorious two-day journey from Vancouver to Jasper starts by following the Fraser River through fertile farmlands and the dramatic Fraser Canyon, way above the roaring rapids of Hell's Gate below. After a night in Kamloops, the journey continues eastbound past shimmering lakes, the aptly-named Pyramid Falls and magnificent Mount Robson, the tallest peak in the Canadian Rockies, before arriving in Jasper.

First Passage to the West Vancouver to Banff

Like 'Journey Through the Clouds', this two-day itinerary starts in Vancouver and winds its way east to the riverside town of Kamloops. The second day, however, sees you heading to Lake Louise and Banff rather than Jasper, passing memorable landmarks like Kicking Horse Pass, perched 5,000 feet above sea level, and Castle Mountain, so named by early explorers for its resemblance to a medieval castle.

Rainforest to Gold Rush Vancouver to Jasper

Available in GoldLeaf only, this three-day journey takes you from Vancouver to Jasper, Canada's largest national park, via overnight stops at the world-famous mountain resort of Whistler – where you can ride the record-breaking 4.4-kilometre Peak 2 Peak Gondola – and the historic town of Quesnel. Along the way you'll pass scenic fjords, rushing rivers, soaring mountains and gold-flecked canyons once teeming with gold prospectors.

Railroad to the Rockies

The railroad through the Canadian Rockies from Vancouver to Banff is arguably the most spectacular in the world, carving through a land shaped by glaciers, with snow-covered peaks, roaring waterfalls and tranquil mountain lakes.

By far the best way to absorb this stunning scenery is on an all-daylight journey with Rocky Mountaineer, eight-time winner of the World's Leading Travel Experience by Train at the World Travel Awards; renowned for its glass-domed coaches, delicious cuisine, impeccable service and sociable atmosphere.

There are three routes available (as outlined right) and two different levels of world-class service, SilverLeaf and GoldLeaf, both of which include complimentary transfers to your overnight hotel in either Kamloops, Whistler or Quesnel. All routes can be made westbound or eastbound, though we recommend travelling east as the scenery only gets better and better as you rise into the Rockies.

ALBERTA

Alberta is where Canada's wild beauty takes centre stage: glacier-fed lakes, snow-capped peaks and vast national parks lie waiting to be explored. From the adventure-filled trails of Jasper to Banff's mountain charm and Calgary's urban edge, this is the Rockies at their most cinematic.

Covering more than 4,200 square miles of Rocky Mountain scenery, Jasper, the country's largest national park, offers year-round adventure, from white-water rafting on the Athabasca River to canyon hikes, horseback rides and serene canoeing on majestic Maligne Lake.

The 142-mile Icefields Parkway links Jasper to Banff, passing through an unbroken panorama of glacier-topped peaks, waterfalls and turquoise lakes flanked by spruce and fir forests. A highlight of the route is the Columbia Icefield, where you can ride across the ice in massive all-terrain vehicles and take in the views from the glass-bottomed Skywalk. The Parkway ends in Banff, Canada's highest town, known for its vibrant dining and refined hotels. Banff National Park, the country's first, offers access to Moraine Lake and magical Lake Louise, dramatically set at the foot of the Victoria Glacier.

Just east lies Calgary, a dynamic city with a flourishing arts scene, some splendid parks and many excellent restaurants, including one that revolves around the top of the Calgary Tower.

Where the Journey really is the Destination

With coastal routes that hug the ocean, seven UNESCO designated sites, diverse cultures and warm, friendly people, this is Atlantic Canada at its showstopping best.

SPEAK TO YOUR TRAVEL AGENT ABOUT ARRANGING YOUR OWN TAILOR-MADE LUSO ROAD TRIP THROUGH SPECTACULAR NOVA SCOTIA.

The Cabot Trail

Any Nova Scotian road trip should include the Cabot Trail. Regarded as one of the most scenic drives in the world, the 184-mile highway weaves through the Cape Breton Highlands National Park, passing jaw-dropping ocean views, tumbling waterfalls, six magnificent beaches, 24 stunning lookout points, the world-class Highlands Links golf course and numerous breathtaking hiking trails.

The Lobster Trail

If you haven't eaten lobster in Nova Scotia, then you haven't really eaten lobster. Or so the saying goes. 50,000 tonnes of the delicacy are hauled from Nova Scotia waters each year, much of it heading no further than restaurants across the province. Aficionados should follow the Lobster Trail with more than 40 Nova Scotian restaurants serving everything from traditional lobster dinners to lobster rolls, lobster poutine and even lobster pizza.

Beaches Galore

With more than 8,000 miles of coastline to explore, you're always close to a beach in Nova Scotia. Build sandcastles, beachcomb for sea glass, take a surf lesson or simply walk barefoot for miles along the sand. Melmerby is a particular favourite, known for having the warmest water north of the Carolinas.

The Rhythm of Life

Music is woven into the fabric of life here. The vibrant music scene not only celebrates Nova Scotia's Celtic roots – with ceilidhs, reels and plenty of fiddles – it stretches all the way to jazz evenings, rock concerts and symphonies serving up beer and Beethoven.

The Heart of Halifax

The Halifax waterfront is the most visited destination in all of Nova Scotia. Explore museums, browse boutique shops, dine at waterfront restaurants, take a harbour tour, catch a ferry to Dartmouth or sip cocktails at sunset, watching boats come and go from this historic harbour town.

Whales & The Bay of Fundy

Twelve different whale species are known to swim in the waters off Nova Scotia, with summer and early autumn the best times to spot them. The beautiful Bay of Fundy is a top whale watching spot, though it has other secrets too, like being home to the world's most complete fossil record at Joggins Fossil Cliffs, itself a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Maritime Wine

The Nova Scotians have been making wine since the 1600s. Wine lovers today will find over 20 wineries and vineyards to visit, with opportunities to try everything from sparkling wines and rosés to ice-wines, reds and the province's signature Tidal Bay wine – a crisp, aromatic and dry white wine made exclusively from Nova Scotian grapes.

A Guiding Light

Given its thousands of miles of coastline, it's no surprise that Nova Scotia has the largest number of lighthouses of any province in Canada. Today, 150 dot the shoreline, helping to protect those who make their living on the water. If you only visit one then be sure it's at Peggy's Cove, one of the most picturesque and photographed lighthouses in the world.

Tauck Escorted Tours

Tauck have been organising luxury escorted tours since 1925, making them tried and tested experts in their field. Their USA and Canada tours offer endless opportunities for cultural connections and authentic experiences, from majestic mountain landscapes and treasured national parks to historic cities and seaside attractions.

Thanks to nearly a century of relationship building, Tauck can provide special access to hidden gems and sites not normally accessible to the public. They can show you sides to the USA and Canada you simply wouldn't see if travelling independently. A lot of this is down to the connections they have with local people and their communities, who share their insights, secrets and stories with Tauck guests. As impressive as America's iconic sights are, it's often encounters like fishing for lobster off the Portland coast with a genuine local lobsterman that guests remember most.

Equally impressive are the excellent Tauck guides. Tauck Directors average 10 years of service, come from 41 countries and collectively speak 52 languages. Their expertise in local culture, customs and traditions is what turns a Tauck tour from a trip to a trip of a lifetime. Add the reassurance of luxurious accommodation each step of the way, inclusive benefits like airport transfers, a wide choice of excursions – many exclusive to Tauck – and meals at restaurants that offer a true taste of each region you visit, and you quickly understand why Tauck have been named in Travel + Leisure's 'World's Best' list for 25 consecutive years.
